LOWELL F. BARTHOLOMEW

This is the comfort of friends, that though they may be said to die, yet their friendship and society are, in the best sense, ever present, because immortal.

—William Penn

In Memoriam

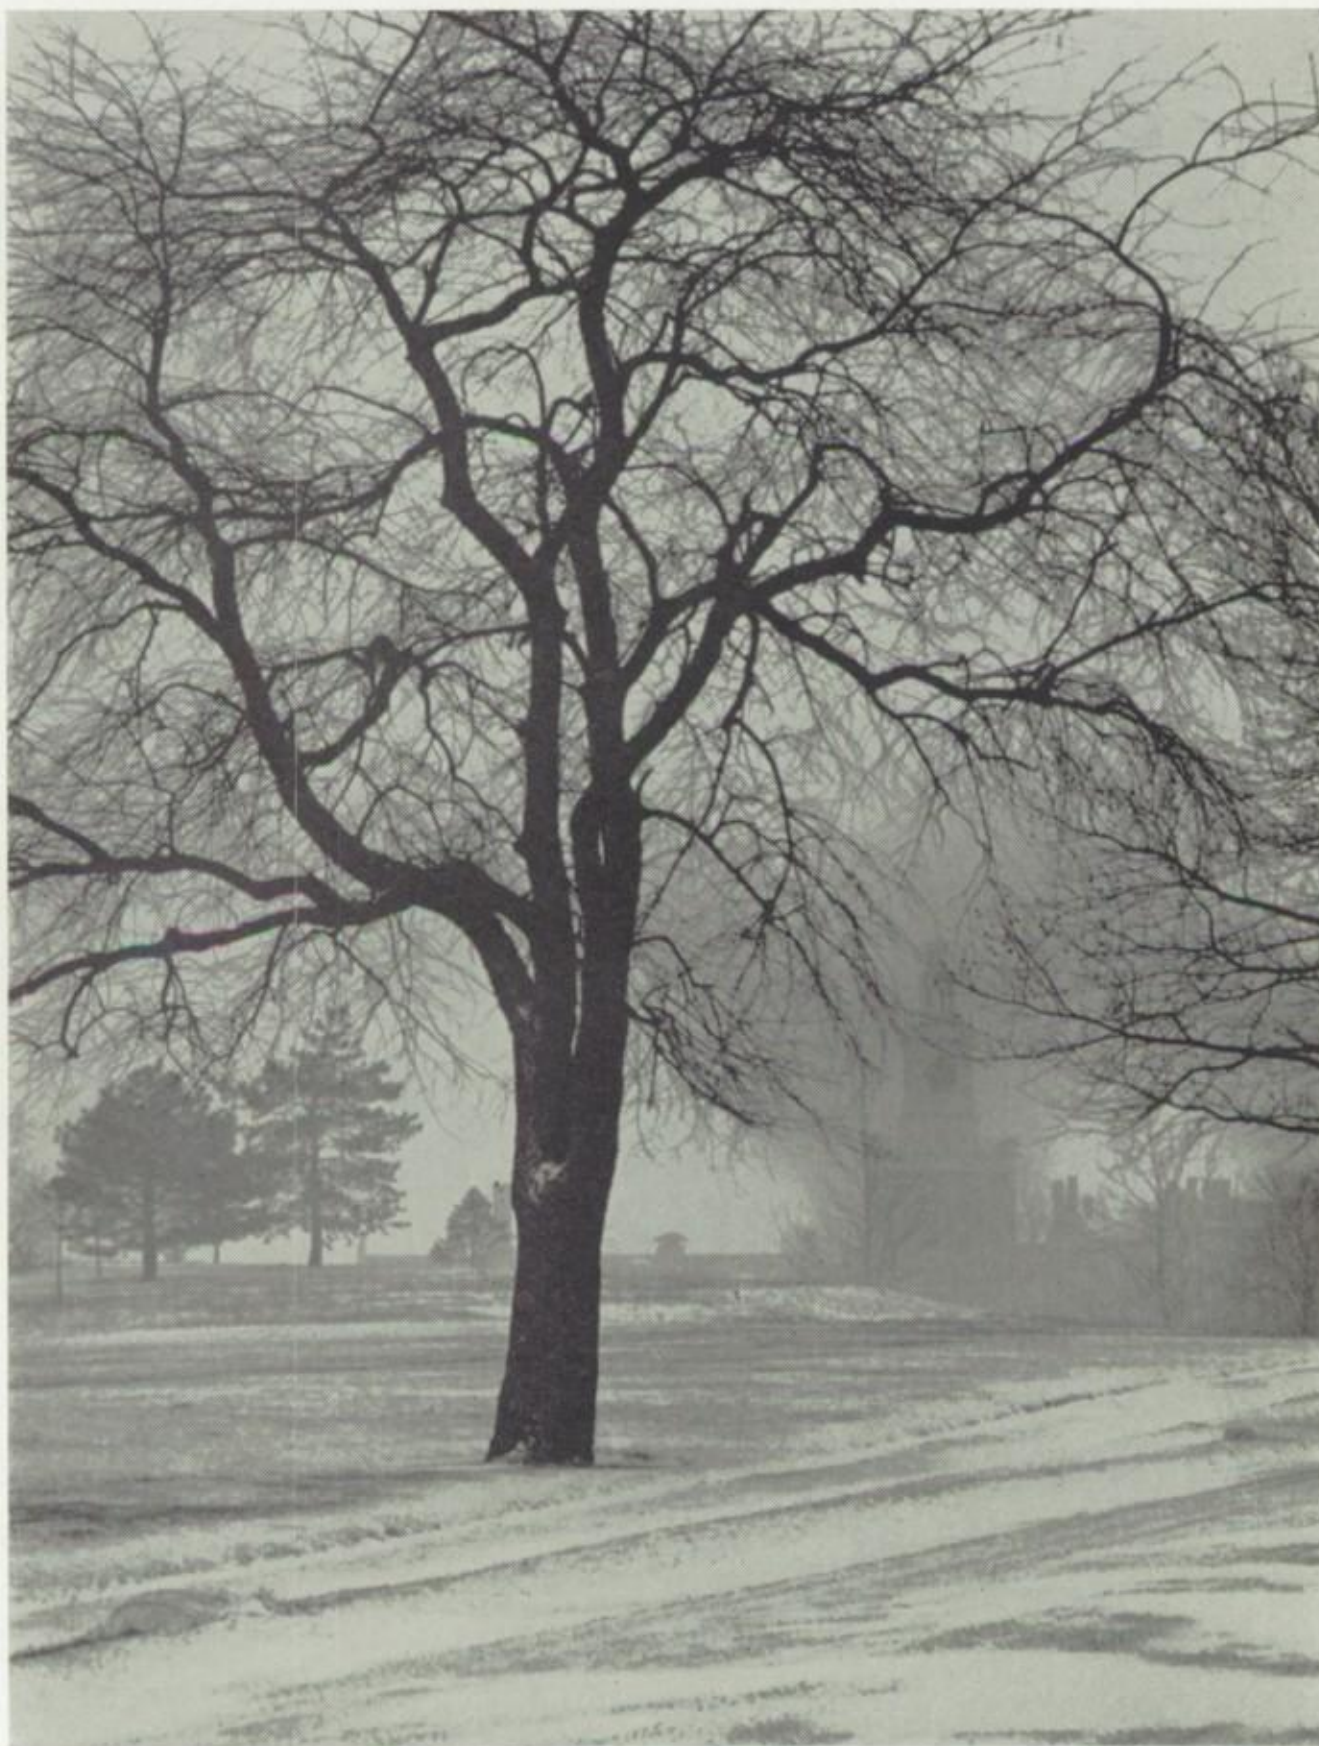

RUSSELL CLINE MILLER

*Enough, if something from our hands have power
To live, and act, and serve the future hour.*

—William Wordsworth

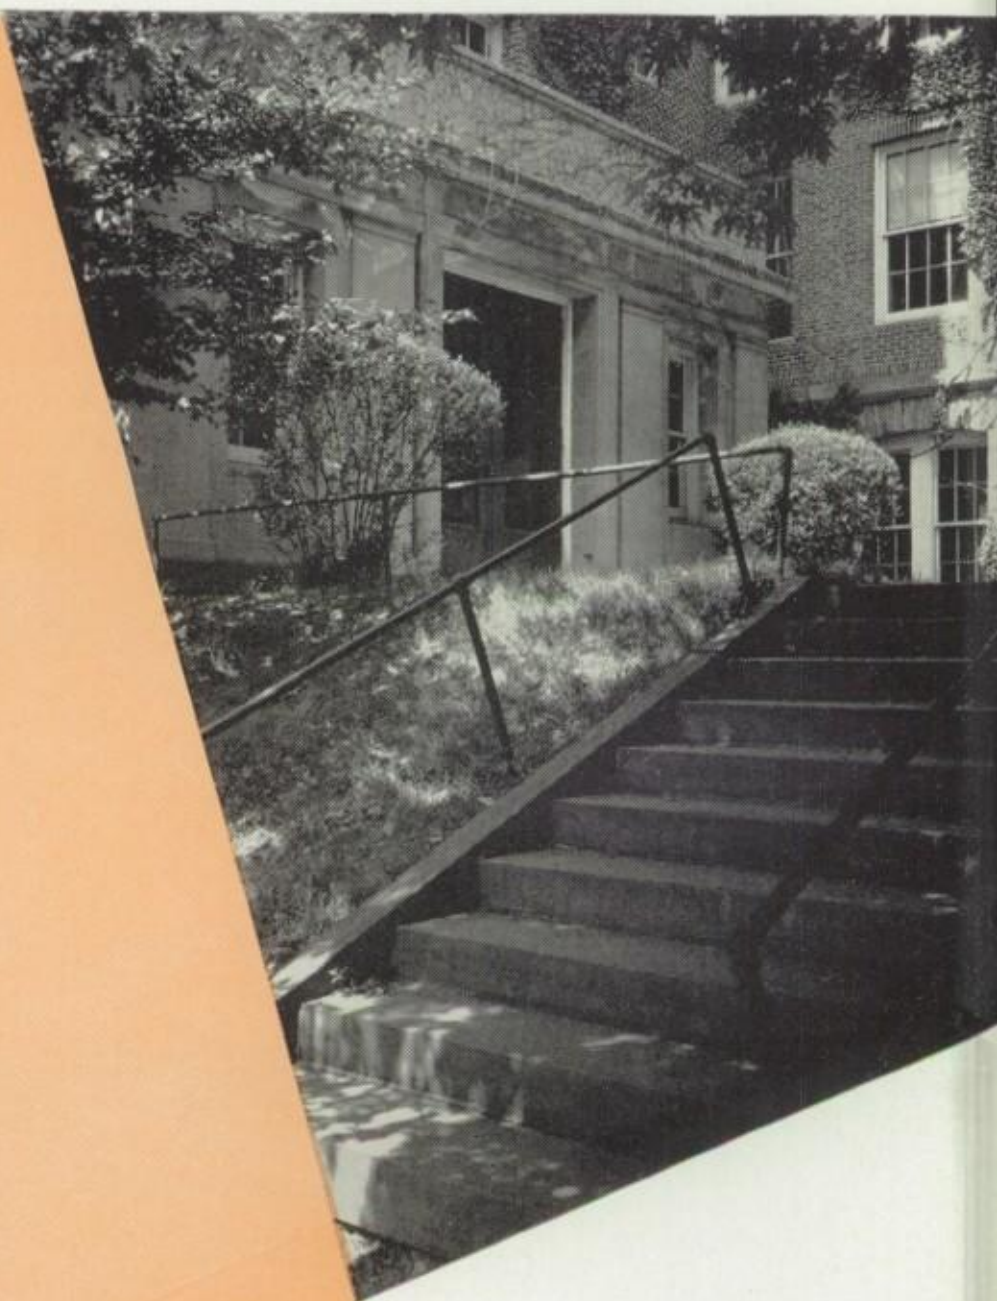

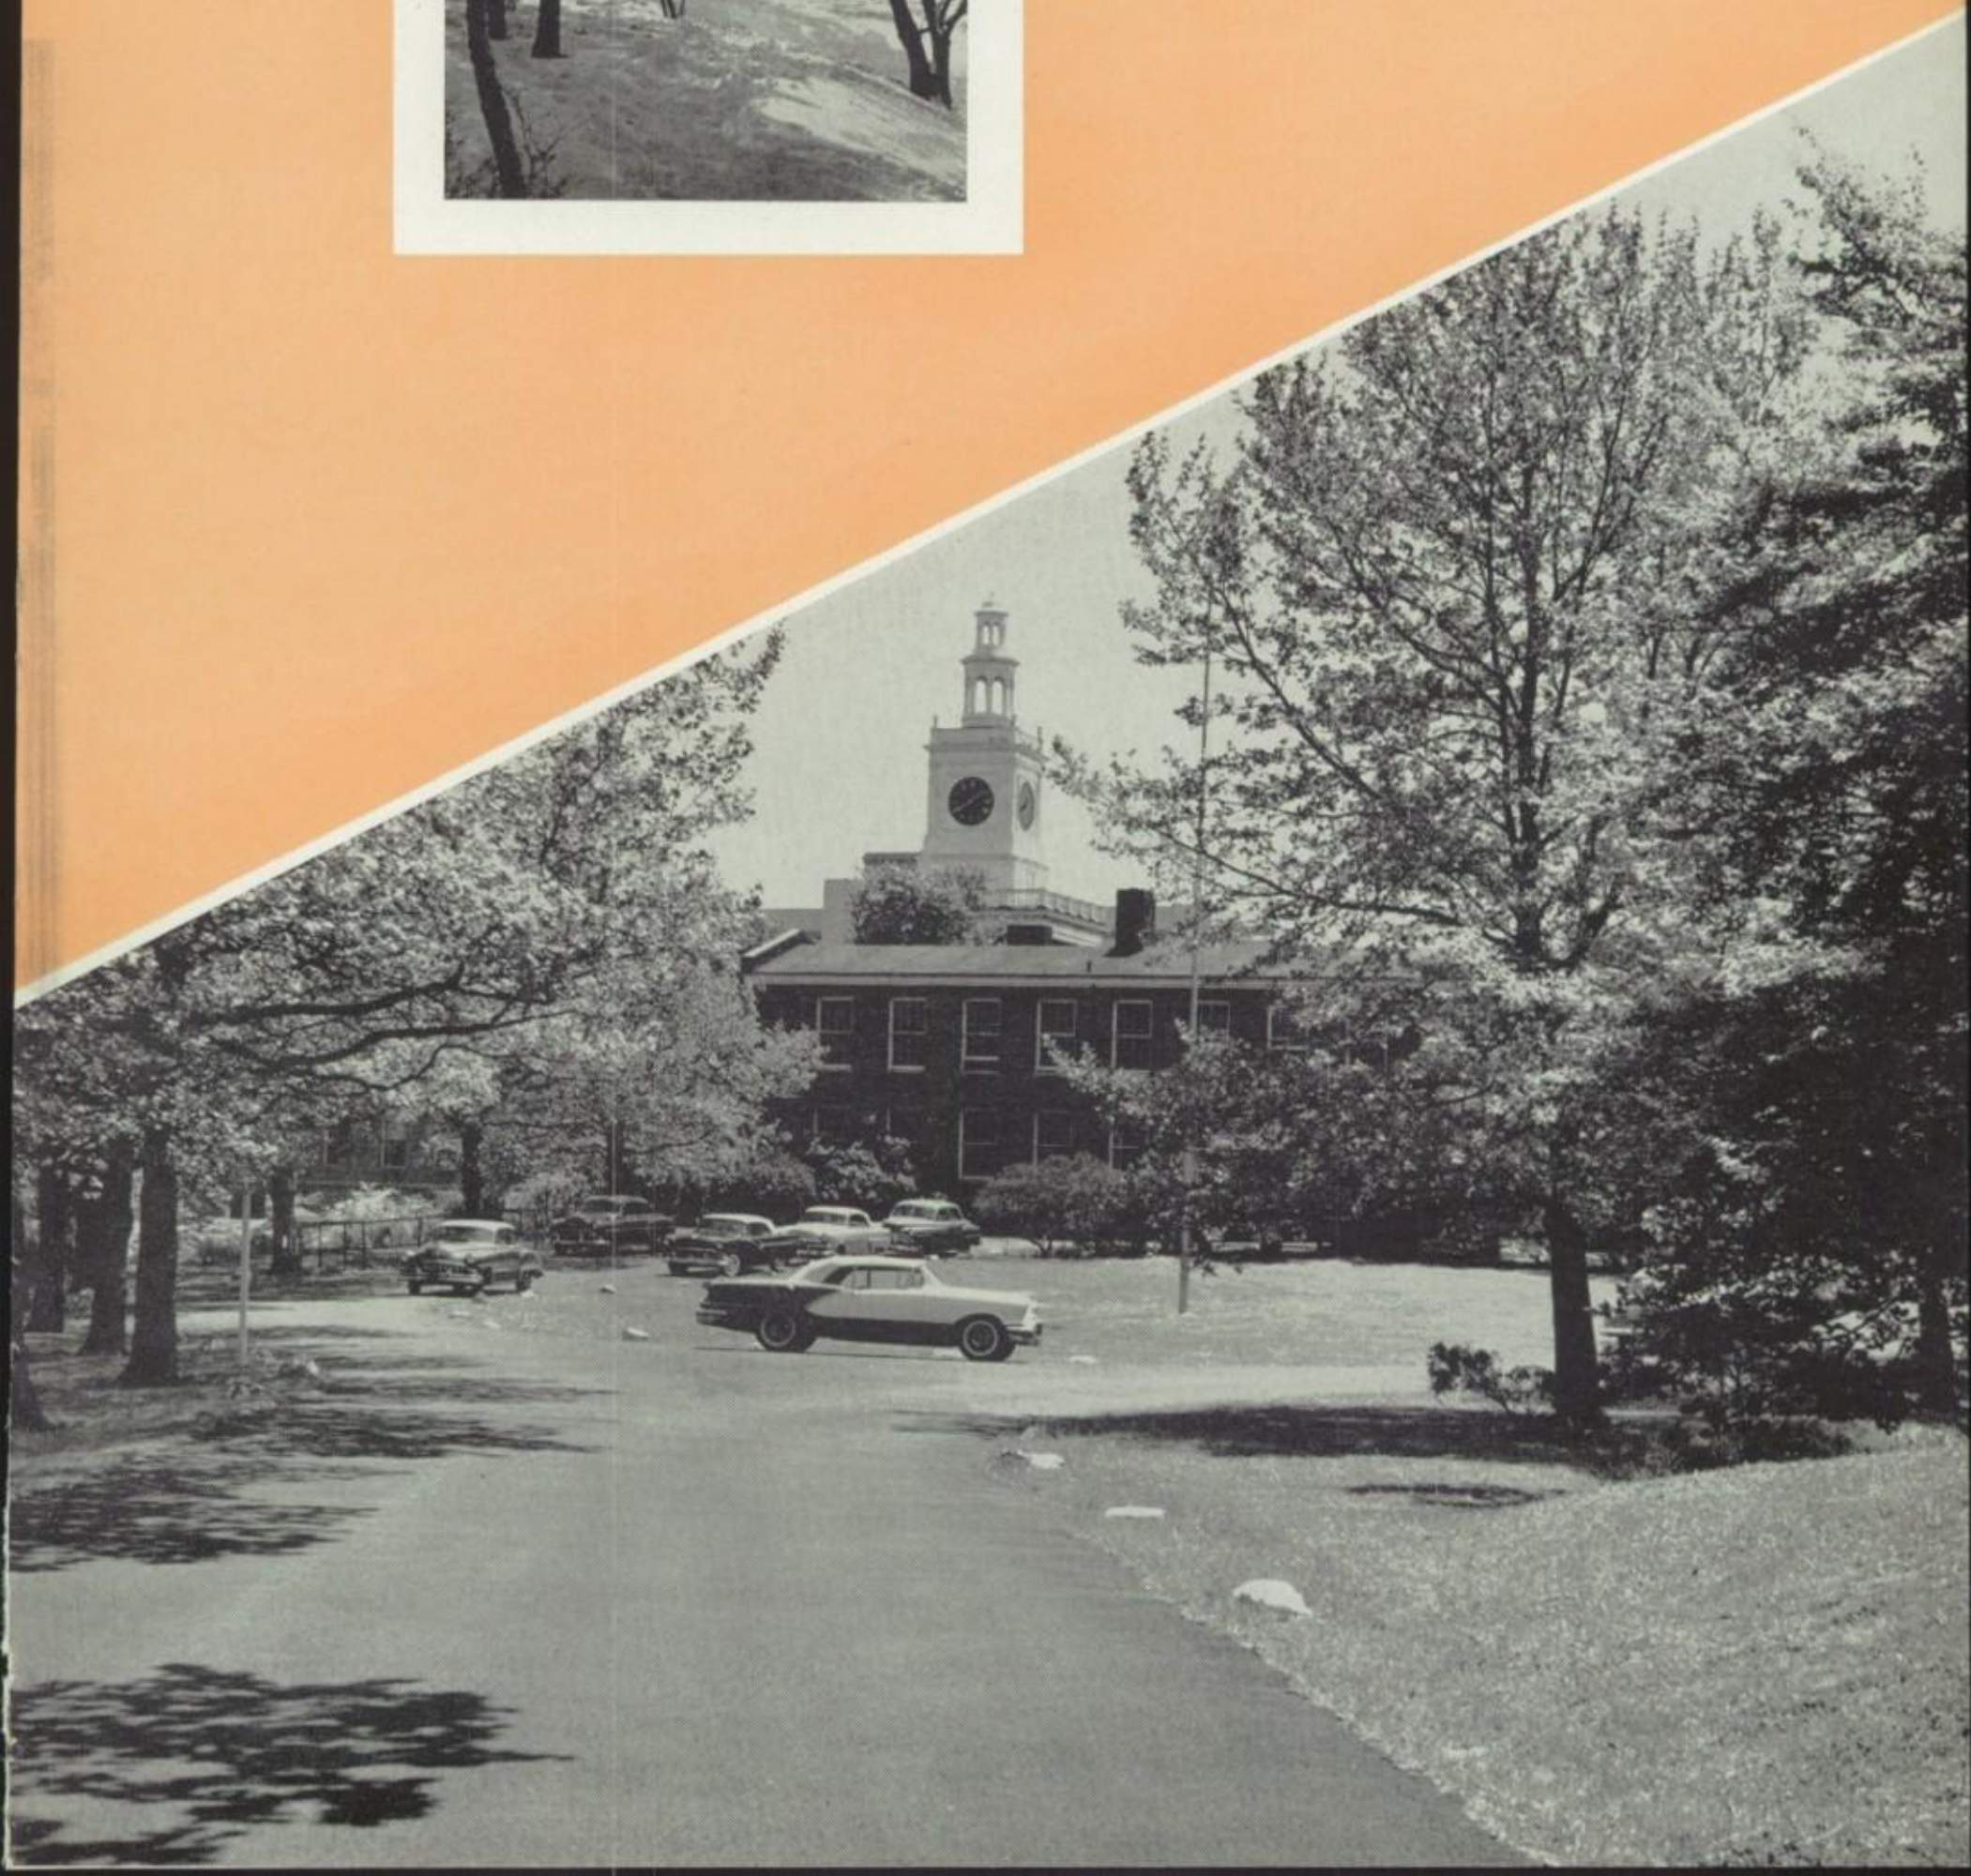

The country is lyric — the town dramatic.

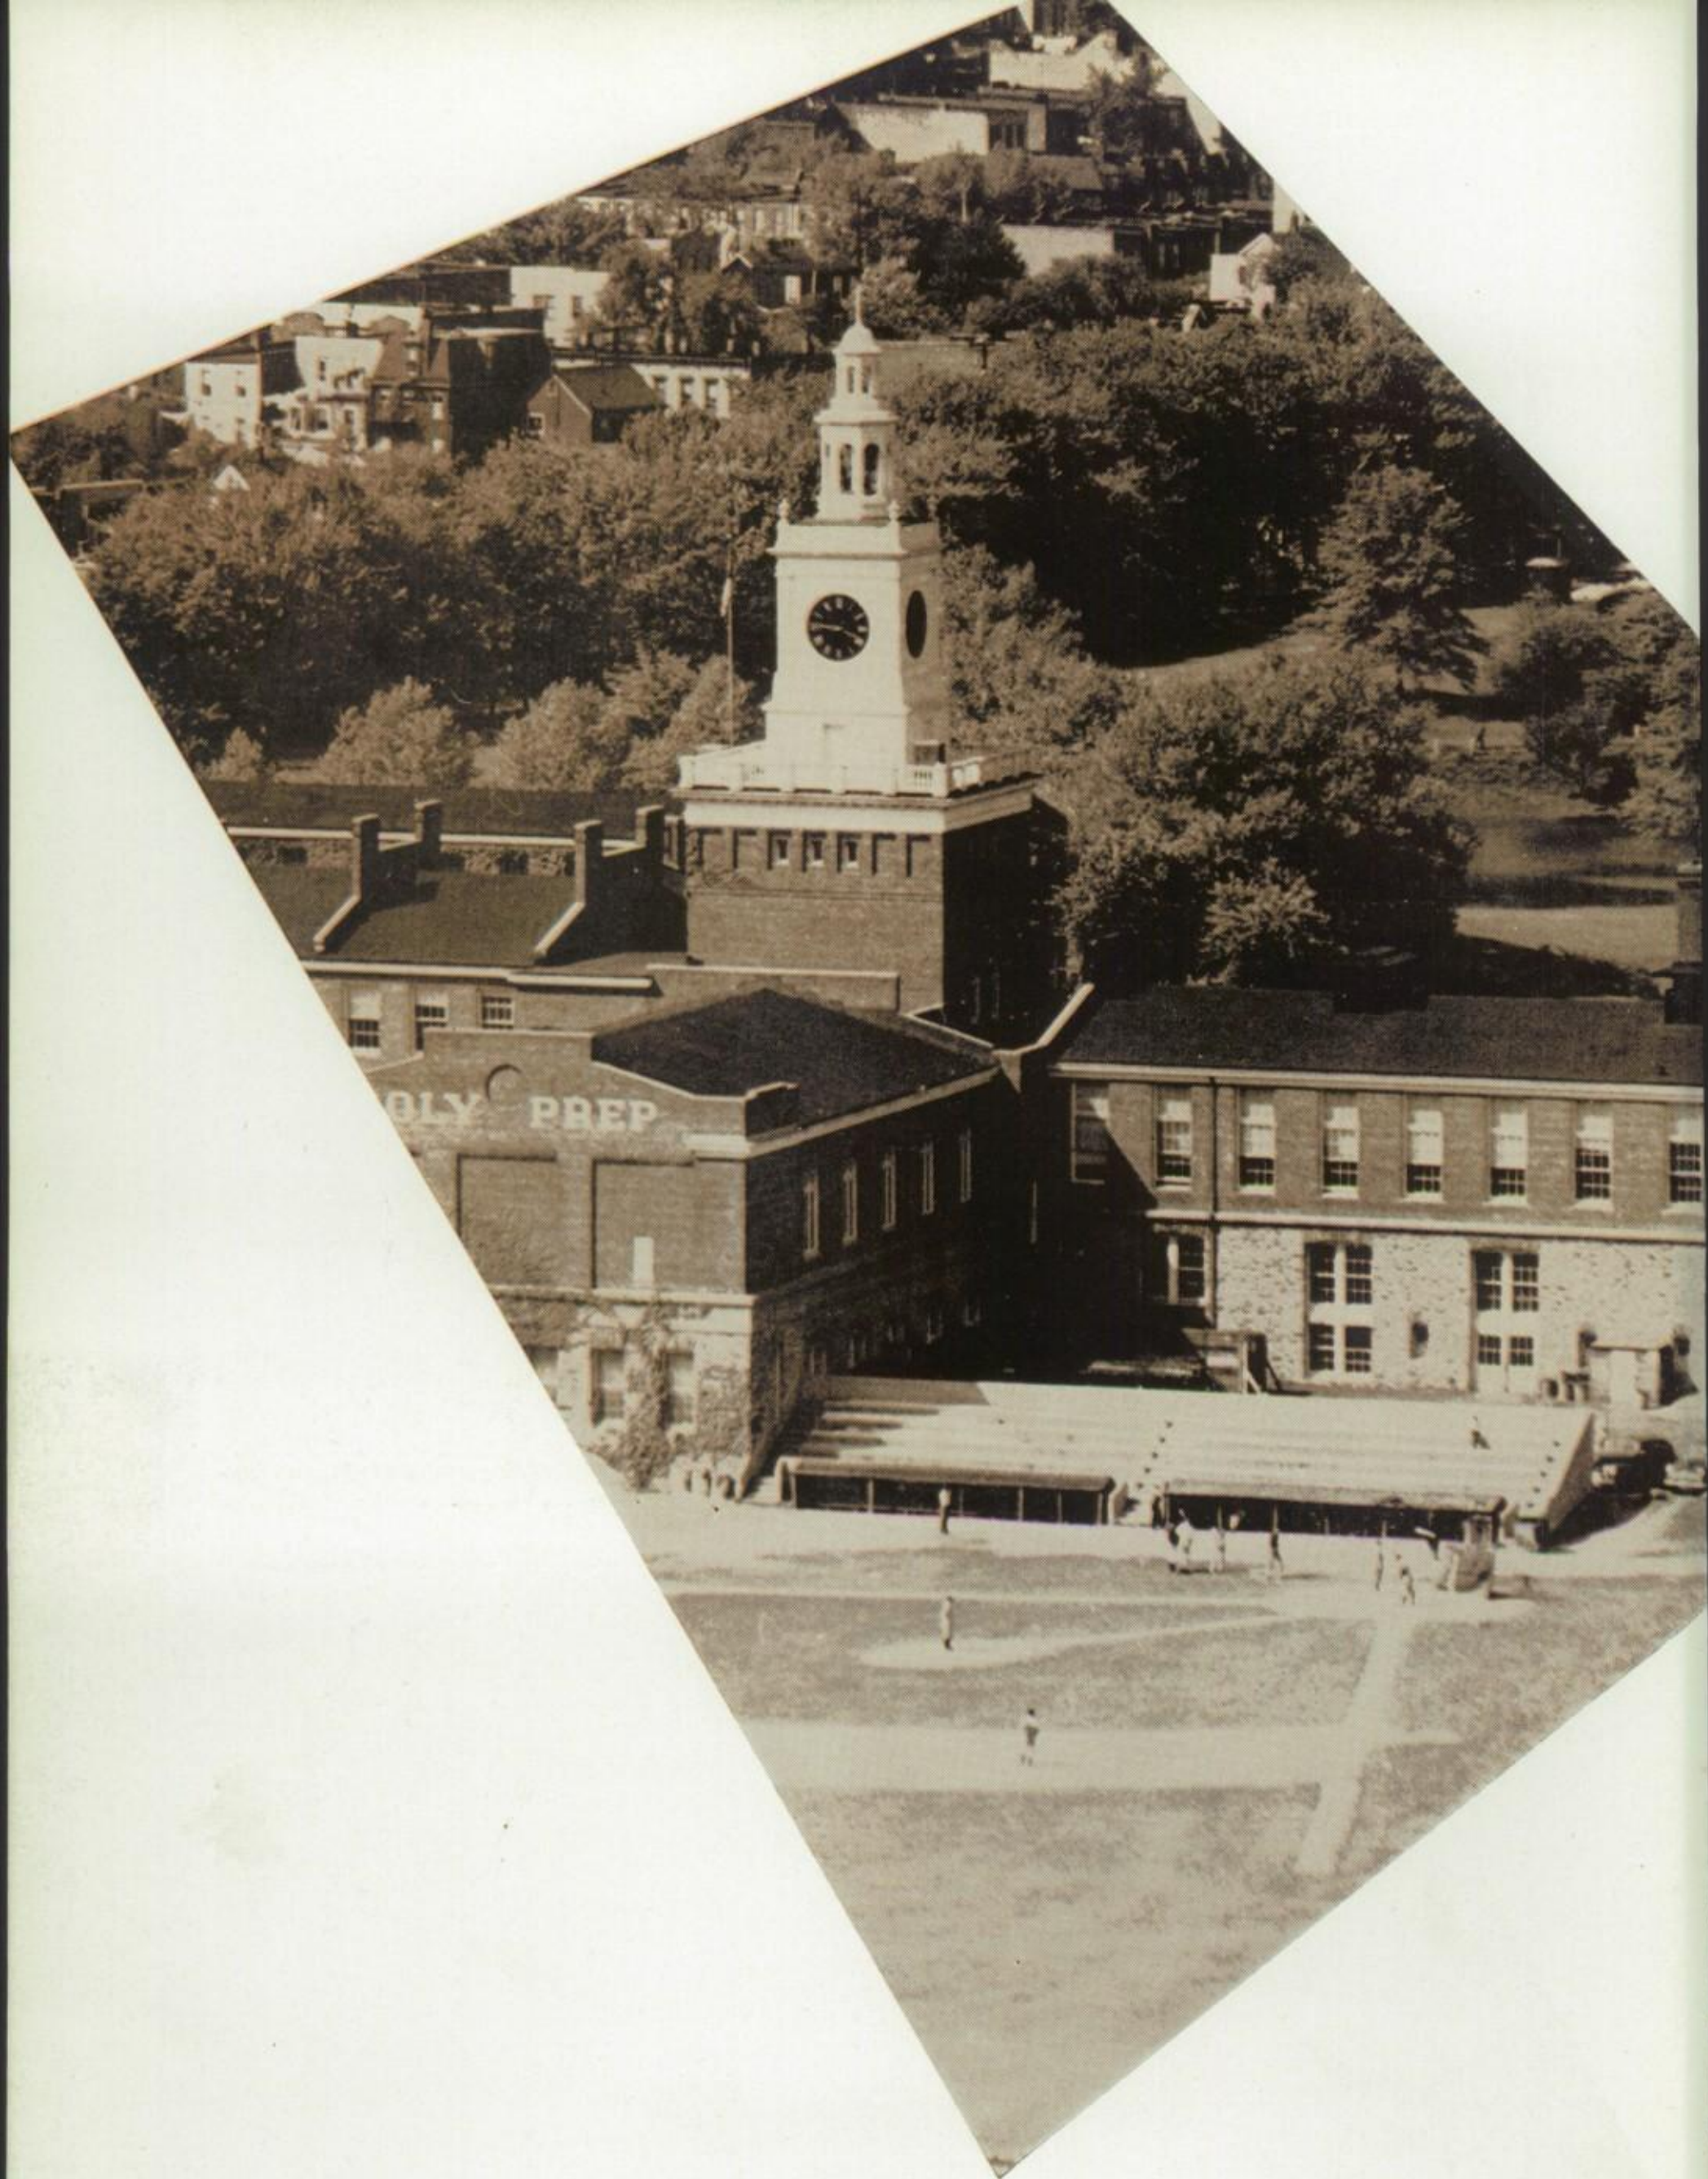

When mingled, they make the most perfect musical drama.

I nstruction increases inborn worth, and right discipline strengthens the heart.

is grand! 'tis solemn! 'tis an education of itself to look upon!

Hugs and kisses.

Miltown Monday.

Mrs. Federman wants you.

He writes the order.

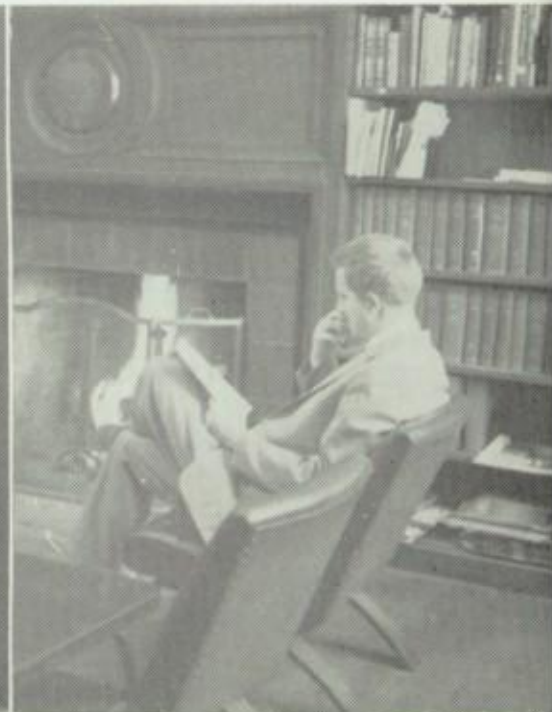

He questions it.

He delivers it.

He wonders about it.

He reads it.

He executes it—bleeds the radiators.

"You should have done a two-color job."

"Get your cotton-picking foot . . ."

"The boat is leaving, and y'all is on the pier."

Class of 1958

AT graduation time the Past and Future are foremost in our minds. Looking back on our years at Poly we begin to appreciate all she has done for us. The seeds of education which she has sown will begin to bloom as we progress through the succeeding phases of our lives.

While at Poly, the class of 1958 has contributed much to all facets of school life. We have many pleasant memories with which to live. As we leave, we face the future. For Poly and for us it holds the repayment of all the debts that we owe her by the success and fruitfulness of our undertakings in the world at large. That is all she asks of us and the greatest gift we can bestow.

PARTICIPATING in all the varied fields of school life, the class of '59 established a fine record this year. Eleven of fifty-eight boys were on the Semester Honor Roll, while many earned their varsity letters.

Juniors bolstered many of the fall and winter sports teams. Bakis and Raymond were starters on the soccer team, while Goddard, Schram, Wilson, and Caserta formed the nucleus of the cross country team. Dave Lichtman was awarded the trophy for the most outstanding wrestler in the fourth annual Poly Invitational Wrestling Meet.

As for extra-curricular activities, the Fifth Form had sixteen boys in the Glee Club, fourteen on the Polygon, and ten representing the class on the POLYGLOT. Richard Cain and Robert Siegle delivered speeches in chapel.

Almost two hundred couples attended this year's Junior Prom. For this occasion Commons Hall and the trophy room were converted into the Mardi Gras of New Orleans. A beautiful showboat highlighted the decorations.

Most of the boys belonged to some type of activity.

Gray Leader	JOHN MAGLIOCCO

CONTINUING to lead the school in scholarship and possessing many fine athletes, the class of 1960 strove to fulfill its potential as one of Poly's finest all-around classes.

Twelve boys made the Semester Honor Roll, while several boys received their varsity letters. During the first semester there were more boys from the Fourth Form on the monthly Honor and Credit rolls than from any other form.

The class had representatives on almost every varsity team. In the winter, Novice wrestling medals were won by Fearon, Strafacci, and Solomon, while Magliocco won the 60-yard dash in the School Board Track Meet.

Back—Glickman, Mackta, Heymann, Hooper, Romans, Perry, Fisher, DiGregorio, Cagan, Gladstone.
Third—Mr. Wilcox, Groothuis, Engler, Sessa, Berg, Fearon, Federman, Panoff, Picardi, Mr. Westfall.

Jensen, Mr. Lucas. Second—Schenck, Strongin, Solomon, Magliocco, Sullivan, Scheinman, Wollman, Kamen. Front—Rothstein, Sorbello, Olsen, Rosenberg, Ellis, Saggese.

Through the entire year many boys participated in the Tuesday morning assembly periods. Robert Oxnam gave an unusual demonstration on the bow and arrow, and Mitchell Kamen gave a talk on meteorology. The Dick Van Combo, a dance band, continued its second successful year by presenting a "Jamboree" in chapel on March 14.

As in the past, many of the boys were in the various Poly musical organizations. Over one-third of the class gained experience on the 'Gon Heelers, while many other members of the class belonged to such activities as the Chess Club, Dramatic Club, and Photography Club.

Third Form

President	PETER CRESCI
Vice-President	RICHARD BOES
Secretary-Treasurer	STEPHEN PEARLMAN
OSAC Representative	ROBERT MERINGOLO
Blue Leader	PETER CRESCI
Gray Leader	GEORGE SHERMAN

THIS year's Third Form, under the direction of Dr. Nicholson, Mr. Sandrilla, Mr. Walsh, Mr. Hughes, and Mr. May, centered upon developing the boys intellectually as well as athletically.

Although it is the goal of almost every Poly student to try to get into the Oasis, the main goal of this class was to get as many boys as possible on the Honor and Credit list. Although there were only five boys on the Semester Honor Roll, there were considerably more boys on the monthly lists.

In athletics, George Sherman, Pete Cresci, Fred Bronaugh, and Steve Gold were on the varsity swimming team, while several other boys were members of various varsity squads. Twenty-three boys won their Freshman letter in football, while sixteen boys received their Freshman soccer letter.

Back—Eros, Goyanes, Schwartz, Blumenthal, Sahn, Davis, Gold, Pearlman. Fourth—Scott, Golbert, Sherman, Scotto, Rymzo, Berzins, Goldfarb, Lachenmeyer, Musico, Dr. Nicholson. Third—Love, Boes, Gerardi, Musikant, Wadelton, Jeffer, Simonsen, Swift, Bloom. Second—Sanger, Harrison, Herman, Tocci, Wilner, Cobb, Delmhorst. Front—Rosenbloom, P. Cresci, Romano, Asper, Brancato, Kotite.

During the Thursday morning homeroom periods, time was devoted to intellectual discussions and lectures. Chris Costas, president of the Oasis, David Elligers, editor of the Polygon, and Peter Bluestone, editor-in-chief of the POLY-GLOT, were among the people who gave talks. K. R. Krishnan and Michael Karem, the two foreign exchange students, told the class about life in each of their countries, India and Jordan respectively.

Several of the boys made appearances in chapel. Leshner and Glassman spoke during the Thanksgiving Day program, while Rebell spoke in memory of Washington's Birthday.

Throughout the year the Trigon, the Third Form newspaper, tried to keep the entire school aware of what was happening in the Freshman Class.

The Third Form set a fine example for the following classes, and at the same time made good for itself.

ACTIVITIES

Band and Orchestra—Feibush, Asper, Glassman, Goldfarb, Delmhorst.

Trigon—Boes, Feinstein, Gold, Hamway, Herman, Lachenmeyer, Malkin, Musikant, Panetta, Rebell, Rubin, Sahn, Schiller, Schneider, Scotto, Teitelbaum, Tocci, Wasserman.

President	JAMES GERTZ
Vice-President	RAYMOND RIZZUTI
Secretary-Treasurer	LEWIS SHEPLER, II
OSAC Representative	HENRY GARDSTEIN, JR.
Blue Leader	DOUGLAS MARTOCCI
Gray Leader	JAMES GERTZ

THIS year's Second Form, consisting of sixty-eight students, was divided into four sections under Messrs. Thompson, Walsh, Winder, and DesRoches.

The class participated in a wide variety of athletic events, both inter-school and inter-mural. The football team, under Captain James Gertz, had a record of one win and two defeats. The soccer team, however, fared a little better than the gridiron stars. The team had an overall record of two wins and two defeats. During the winter the boys went out for basketball, wrestling, swimming, or squash. The basketball team, under the leadership of Rizzuti, had a very fine season. Over one third of the class received their letters for participation in a sport.

Back—Hunt, Eber, Flug, Rich, Ronca, McKenna, Paltos, Crisalli, Kasses, O'Connor. Third—Mr. Thompson, Deeb, Dorn, Mackey, Springer, Mitchell, Ingram, Irving, Shepler, Hochman, Mr. Winder. Second—Perlman, Robinson, Spiegel, Hummer, Voss, Corwin, Evans, Livingston, Martocci. Front—Gardstein, Kozinn, Berggren, Stern, Kamen, Nova, Gertz.

Back—Freilich, Brown, Hall, Pinto, Fratkin, Lefante, Hoffman, Servillo, Bobrow. Third—Mr. Pasotti, Marlin, Panetta, James, Cohn, Boes, Andreozzi, Blumstein, Zamore, Mr. DesRoches. Second—Hauptman, Green, Rosenberg, Stella, Rizzuti, Jensen, Gaston, Feinstein, Block. Front—Perry, Stich, Raphael, Pantano, Orlando.

Now that the boys were part of the Middle School they were able to take advantage of the various clubs and activities which are offered to boys in the Middle and Upper Schools. Eighteen boys were part of the Middler Glee Club, which performed March eighth in the Poly Spring Concert. Irving, Fratkin, Jensen, Zamore, Nova, and Ronca were members of the famed Poly Orchestra, which provided the music for the Tuesday morning assembly periods. A few of the organizations which were open to the class were the Art Club, the Chess Club, and the Ham Radio Club.

ACTIVITIES

Chess Club—Blumstein, Bobrow, Cohn, Dorn, Eber, Gardstein, Gertz, Hoffman, Livingston, Marlin, McKenna, Mitchell, O'Connor, Perlman, Pinto, Raphael, Rich, Rizzuti, Shepler, Spiegel, Springer, Stella.

Jacobs, Venit, Gaudio, DiCarlo, Weiss. Front—Diez-Canseco, Gatto, W. Hume, R. Baron. Absent—Scheffold.

First Form

THIS year's First Form, numbering sixty-five, was active in almost every phase of school life.

The class was divided into four sections under Mr. Conover, Mrs. Alder, Mr. Weber, and Mrs. O'Donnell. Each group was independent and had its own set of officers.

This year the boys participated in athletic events with other schools. The wrestling team competed in two meets; and Giustra, Steinberg, Jacobs, de-Lemos, and Baron showed signs of developing into fine wrestlers.

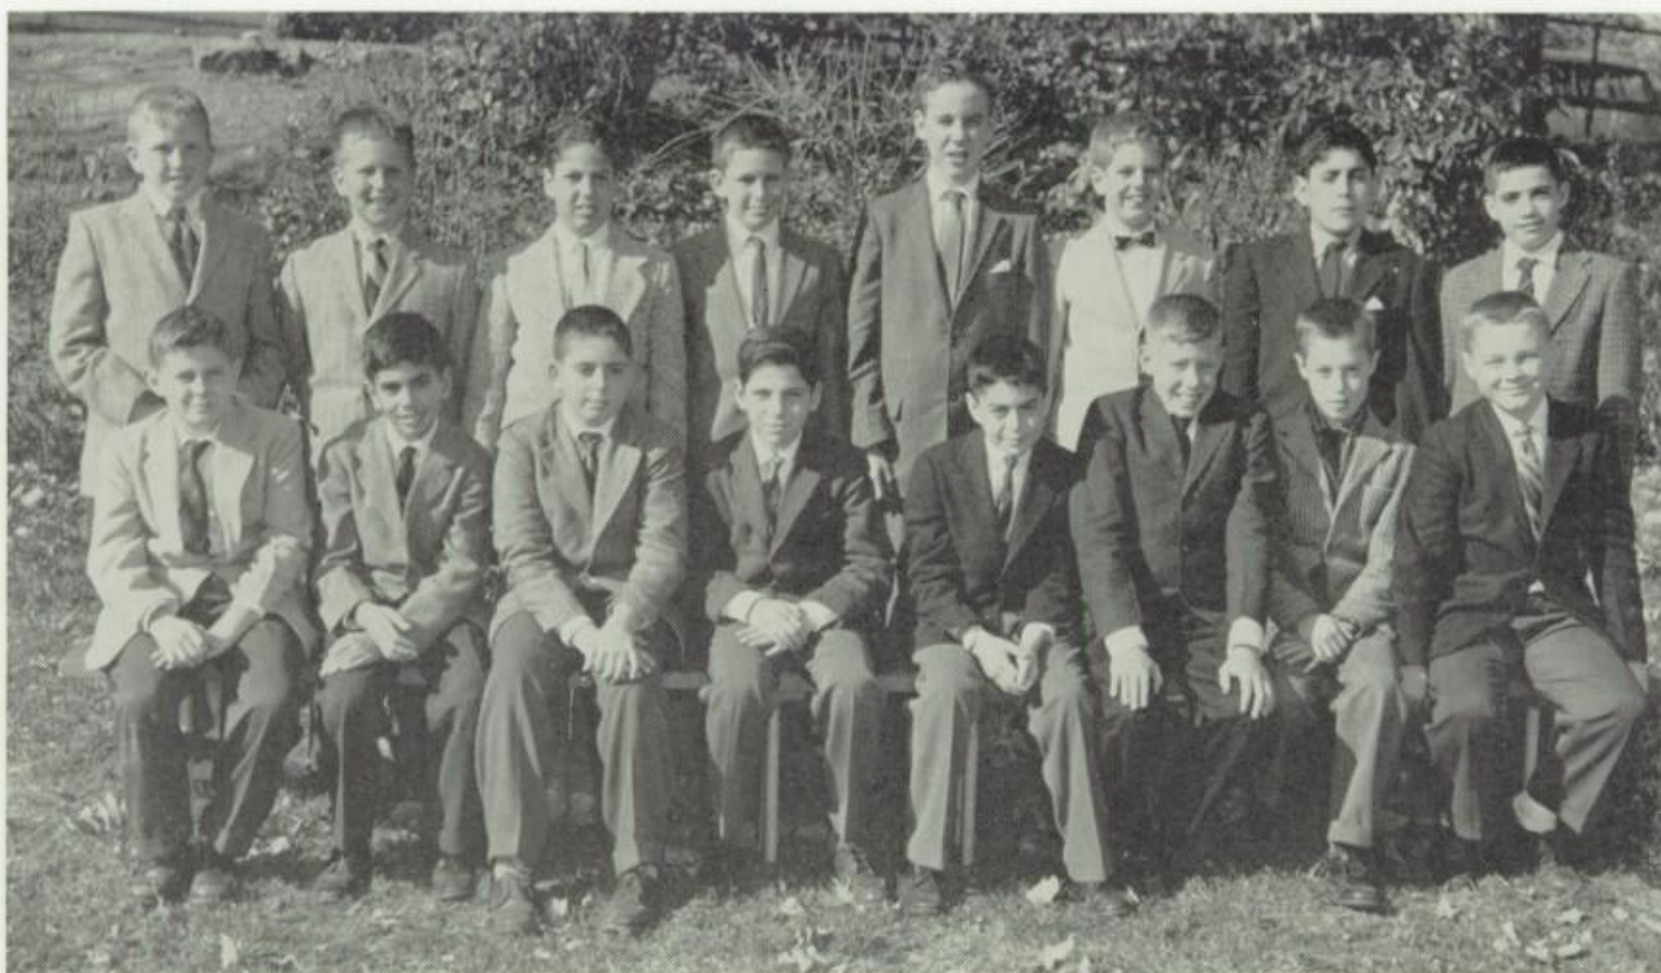

For the first time many of the boys were able to join the various clubs which were made available to the First Form. Hersh, Gaudio, and Diez-Canseco belonged to the Radio Club. Twenty-seven boys were members of the Lower School Glee Club. The boys in that club performed at various times through the year during the Tuesday morning assemblies. Oliver, Oxnam, and Maizel were members of the band.

The class of '63 shows signs of being a well-rounded class, one that will uphold the traditions of Poly.

Back—Parnes, Grover, E. Baron, Beery, Love, Lynch, Luomanen, Ratzan, Greener. Third—Cooper, Lian, Oxnam, Tarr, Jansson, Richman, Lookofsky, A. Bevilacqua. Second—Bronaugh, Weitman, Piracci, Gromet, Steingut, Appleman, Steinberg, deLemos, Giustra. Front—Oliver, Penny, Marren, Fayne, Maizel.

Sixth Grade

THIS year's Sixth Grade, divided into two sections, one under Miss Bowler and the other under Mr. Reed, successfully took part in a wide range of academic, civic, and recreational activities.

A memorable event of the year was the Christmas Play, "Queen Christmas," in which every member of the Sixth Grade participated.

The Social Studies program was greatly enriched by trips to places of interest: The Metropolitan Museum of Art, The Cloisters, and The Museum of Natural History.

The Book, Poetry, Society, Current Events, and the Original Story Clubs provided opportunities for the boys to learn group participation and direction; they afforded many fine occasions for stimulating educational experiences.

Fifth Grade

THIS year's Fifth Grade, which numbered thirty-two boys, was divided into two sections: one under Miss Bull and the other under Mrs. Lamb.

As in the past, the entire class made various projects in connection with their work in Social Studies. Some of the boys made maps, while others painted and drew pictures which adorned the walls of their respective classrooms. While the boys were studying about our South American neighbors they learned several Spanish phrases. Miss Bull's class wrote to their pen pals in Europe.

The library class, which was started last year by Mrs. Lilley, was continued this year. The object of this course is to teach the boys how to use their library. Prompted by this course, Mrs. Lamb's class started a library club in their home-room.

While the boys were not engaged in formal studies they participated in all the various activities which are offered at Poly. This year, taking advantage of the unusually cold weather, the boys went ice skating on the Poly pond and, when the snow permitted, sledding on the hills near the pond.

Christmas Play

ONCE again this year, the Sixth Grade, under the direction of Miss Bowler, presented the annual Christmas play, "Queen Christmas." Mrs. McBlair and Mr. Pearson executed the art work and musical arrangements respectively.

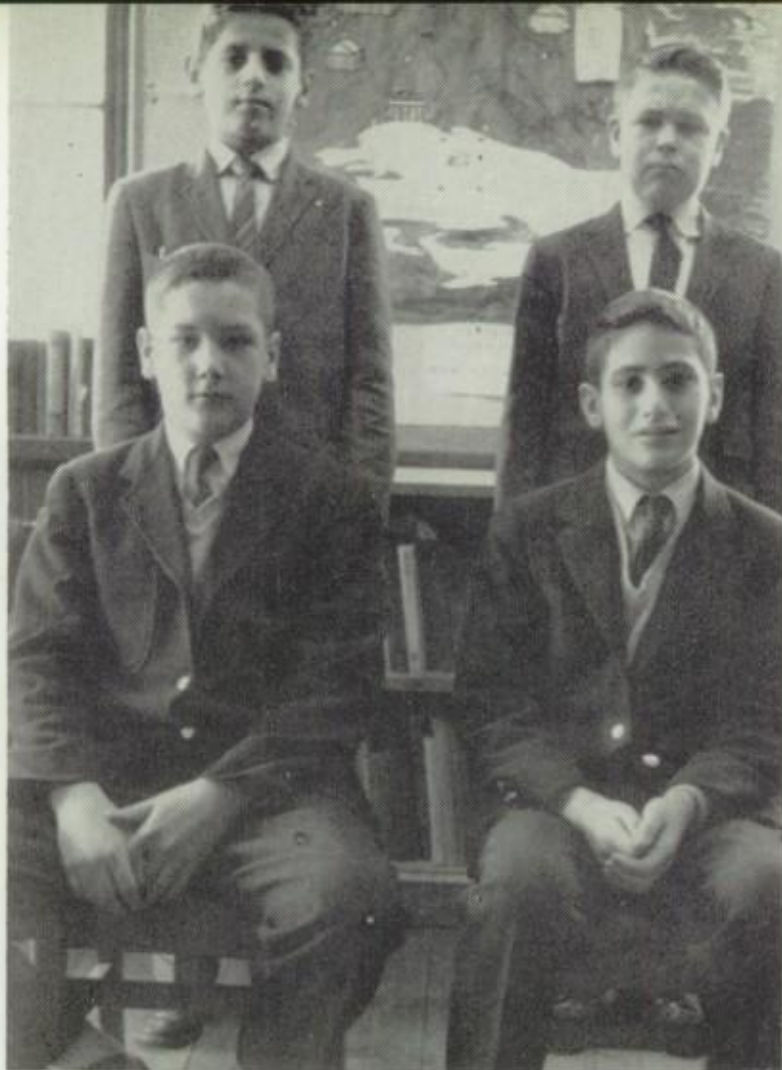

The boys who are about to be graduated will look upon this play as one of the stepping stones in their lives at Poly. Just six short years ago the class of '58 presented the same play with John Sands playing the lead.

ABOUT eight times during the school year, the members of the Lower School assembled in an open forum called the Lower School Meeting. There they had an opportunity to discuss matters that concern them and to participate in decisions which affect their welfare. Through committee exploration, panel discussion, and question-and-answer sessions under teachers' guidance, the boys gradually acquired effective school citizenship. Furthermore, through much practice, they learned the important democratic techniques of conducting and reporting meetings. Several times they were entertained by vocal and instrumental programs, original skits and choral speaking, all arranged by the Program Committee.

The Council, in which each group had two representatives elected at eight-week intervals, met fourteen times a year to discuss important phases of group living. Their goal was the promotion of self-direction and good relationship.

Lower School Council

Each boy in the First Form was on a Lower School committee. The chairmen of these committees were members of the Council. The vice-president of the Lower School presided over the Council meetings.

Cum Laude

SINCE its inception at Poly in 1908, membership in Cum Laude has represented the highest scholastic honor attainable. This year marks the fiftieth anniversary of the granting of a charter to the Poly chapter, but the formal celebration will be observed next year since the first elections were not held until 1909.

Founded at the Tome School in 1906, the Society now encompasses 115 institutions, including chapters in the Philippines and Puerto Rico.

The Cum Laude chapter established at Poly was the fourth to be admitted into the Society.

Since it was founded, the Poly chapter has had but three presidents: Dr. E. S. Hawes, Mr. John K. Clark, and Dr. Kastendieck. The present secretary of the chapter is Mr. E. J. Conover, who replaced Dr. Van Vleck, who had served in that capacity for forty years.

Each year, a committee composed of the headmaster, Mr. J. Folwell Scull, Jr., and the nine department heads reviews the records of the top ten to fifteen percent of the senior class, and elects from them, on the basis of their scholastic achievement and character, the boys best suited for membership. Since 1909 Poly has conferred that honor on 508 boys.

Oasis

SINCE its inception fifty years ago, election to the honor society, Oasis, has signified sound character, well-rounded ability, and extra-curricular achievement. Membership is considered one of the highest honors attainable by a Poly student.

The purpose of the Oasis has undergone many changes since its inception in 1908. The purpose of this Society as stated in the original constitution was "to promote interest in Literary, Dramatic, Musical, Artistic and Social Endeavor in the Polytechnic Preparatory School, and to develop the ability of this club along these lines."

Following tradition, the Society opened the year with a reception for the new students. The Oasis also printed and sold programs for all the home football games and arranged for two school dances. The organization also collected money for various local charities at Christmas and Thanksgiving time.

In addition to these functions, the Oasis sponsored the visit of two foreign exchange students from the Herald Tribune Youth Forum: Michael Karam of Jordan and K. R. Krishnan of India.

Polyglot

"Boy, what interesting 'GLOT' candid."

FROM a folder marked "POLYGLOT Ideas" last May, this year's volume has finally emerged. The seed planted in early fall discussion meetings grew into a tree in the form of the dummy for this book. To the staff this outline was material evidence of effort expended thus far and of the magnitude of the work ahead. Spring came, and the fruit appeared and was harvested with the publication of this 'GLOT.

The realization of a yearbook is the work of a full year, not just a few months. Though the major positions may not be filled until the end of the first semester, material work commences with the spring sports pictures a year previous to publication. The business department mobilizes at the very beginning of the school year. Editorial work begins in the fall and must meet a deadline towards the middle of March. The photography department functions continually, pausing only at the summer vacation. To coordinate these divisions is the job of the editor-in-chief. Somehow the task is completed, and the product of each editor joins with that of the next.

Now the '58 POLYGLOT is ready to take its place on the shelf along with the fifty-eight other

There are seventy young men for whom this is the last book in the series on the shelf. To them it will always remain the 'GLOT. If we have enriched their memories just a little, we are grateful; for then we have fulfilled our purpose.

Polygon

Siegle tests editorial.

UNDER the guidance of Dr. Kastendieck, '23, faculty adviser, and the leadership of David Elligers, editor, this year's Polygon maintained its high standards and remained one of the finest secondary school newspapers in the country by winning, for the twenty-fifth successive year, the medalist rating of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. Appearing twenty-four times during the year, the 'Gon brought school news and feature articles to more than 3200 students and alumni.

Outstanding in this year's publications were the editorial and the news coverage. Frequent polls made by the Polygon showed student opinion concerning such important school topics as the Honors and Credit system and the driver education program. Jeffrey Marlin's poems helped make the Weakly Gasp one of the finest columns in the history of the newspaper.

The work of the editor-in-chief, the business manager, and the managing editor was noteworthy.

THIS year, as in the past since 1937, the Poly Band made its invaluable contribution to school life. Under the expert guidance of Mr. John Pearson, the group overcame its handicaps of youth and inexperience and developed into a truly commendable organization.

Besides appearing regularly at football games and rallies, the Band performed admirably at the Brooklyn Heights Christmas Tree Lighting and at the Berkeley-Poly Spring Concert.

COMPOSED of Poly's more skillful musicians, the orchestra has always played an important part in school life. Besides accompanying the singing in Chapel, as well as in the musical productions, the group performed for the Berkeley-Poly Spring Concert and the Commencement exercises.

This year marked the advent of the Brass Quartet which performed for the Brooklyn Heights Christmas Tree Lighting and several other occasions during the year.

This year's orchestra, under the direction of Mr. John Pearson, is one of the most versatile Poly has seen in years. The group's selections have run the gamut from Rock 'n' Roll to Rimsky-Korsakoff.

IN recent years, an outstanding division of the Poly Music Department has been the Glee Club. Directed by Dr. Carl A. This year's season was highlighted by many chapel appearances and by the excellent performances rendered during the Spring Concert in conjunction with the Berkeley Glee Club.

EACH year, senior members of the Glee Club audition for selection to the Senior Quartet. From these, the four most compatible are chosen and groomed into one of the best close harmony groups in the city. This year's quartet, composed of Ralph Gallo, first tenor, Mark Groothuis, second tenor, Alan Newman, first bass, and Richard Zeeman, second bass, "stole the show" during the Spring Concert. The group was under the direction of Dr. Carl A. Lambert.

Composed of the seniors of the Glee Club, the Polytones were an informal singing group also under the direction of Dr. Lambert. They appeared several times during Chapel and also performed during the Spring Concert.

Dramatic Club

THE Dramatic Club of 1957-58 faced a seemingly insurmountable task of rebuilding. Under the expert guidance of the director, Mr. David Winder, and the leadership of the president, Edward Jeffer, the thespians have had one of their very finest organizations. The proof of their success came on December third when the club opened its season with a satirical skit, "Monster to Monster," an amusing monologue by Roger Wagner, and a hilarious farce, "Dress Reversal," by John C. Gerber.

The true test of the group's skill came on the evenings of April 18th and 19th, when "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" was presented to two sell-out crowds. This offering was unique in Poly's history, for never had a play been presented which depended so little on the action and so much on the skill of the actors. To create and maintain the feeling of emotional tension throughout the entire performance was no easy task. It is truly a tribute to Mr. Winder's fine direction that the cast did so well.

Chapel

BUILT in 1925, the Poly Memorial Chapel stands as a tribute to the Poly graduates who gave their lives for their country in World War I. As in past years, the Chapel served not only as a place of worship, but also as the scene of varied and informative programs.

The Tuesday morning programs, prepared by Mr. Kenneth B. Lucas, offered a variety of material for boys of all ages and interests.

Harry R. Van Allen, Poly '42, addressed the upper school on "The Investment Business." "Politics as a Career" was the subject of a talk by State Assemblyman Frank J. McMullen. Fred M. Hechinger, Associate Publisher of the Bridgeport Sunday Herald, captivated the school as he related to the students and faculty stories about his travels around the world as a reporter. Movies such as "Our Mister Sun" and "The Army-Navy Football Game" highlighted the programs on several Tuesdays. The finals of the Bearns Speaking Contest, a student debate, and several programs for national holidays afforded an opportunity for the students themselves to participate.

Once again educational entertainment held forth as the Chapel programs sought first the interest and second the inspiration of the student body.

AS in the past, the library under the direction of Mrs. Lilley has continued to satisfy the intellectual as well as the pleasure seeking demands of the more than five hundred Poly students and teachers. The wide selection of current periodicals and the numerous reference and fiction books attracted many students, who, as a whole, borrowed close to ten thousand books. Through the year the library enriched its shelves with the addition of many books.

Such books as The Lincoln Library of Essential Information, The Home Book of Quotations, The International Yearbook, and Statesmen's Who's Who, were purchased through the Lowell F. Bartholomew Memorial Fund which was set up this year to perpetuate the name of Mr. Bart.

To meet the demands of the Poly students, the library supplied the school with the New York Times and the Herald Tribune. These two newspapers were made available to keep the students in touch with the world around them.

Mrs. Lilley continued to give unselfishly of her time and effort to try to interest more students in utilizing the wide variety of subjects which are contained in books. She also conducted a three month class to instruct the Fifth Graders on the proper use of the facilities of the library.

The ever-increasing number of books and the fine organization of the library have contributed greatly to school life.

Dances

AS in past years, the Junior Prom initiated Poly's social season. Enhanced by the music of Mel Sherry's swinging five, the dance was a huge success. The occasion was especially memorable for the members of the present senior class who attended. Their delight upon seeing their own ideas and scenery put to such fine use was immeasurable.

The Oasis-Basketball Dance was held February eighth, with a large percentage of the proceeds going to the March of Dimes. The evening was made even more enjoyable by the basketball team's overwhelming defeat of St. Paul's in the game preceeding the dance.

Held in the Quadrangle, under the stars, the Commencement Dance traditionally signifies the end of the school year.

By making its Senior Prom a dinner-dance, this year's senior class established a precedent that may be emulated for many years to come. After the dance, which was held on the Garden Roof of the Hotel Pierre in Manhattan, the class split up into several parties that lasted well into the next day.

Shop

THE manual arts workshop, a gift of the parents of the class of 1956, is the first fully equipped shop of its kind at Poly since World War I. The director of the manual arts program, Mr. William Christopher, has equipped it with the finest in woodworking materials and electric tools. As in the past, special emphasis was placed on the instruction in the correct use of the materials placed at the students' disposal.

The Second Formers in the Crafts Club again participated in a woodworking contest. Each boy constructed a lamp and submitted it for consideration. The judging was based on workmanship and detail of finish. In addition other members helped in the construction of scenery for the Dramatic Club productions and decorations for the school dances.

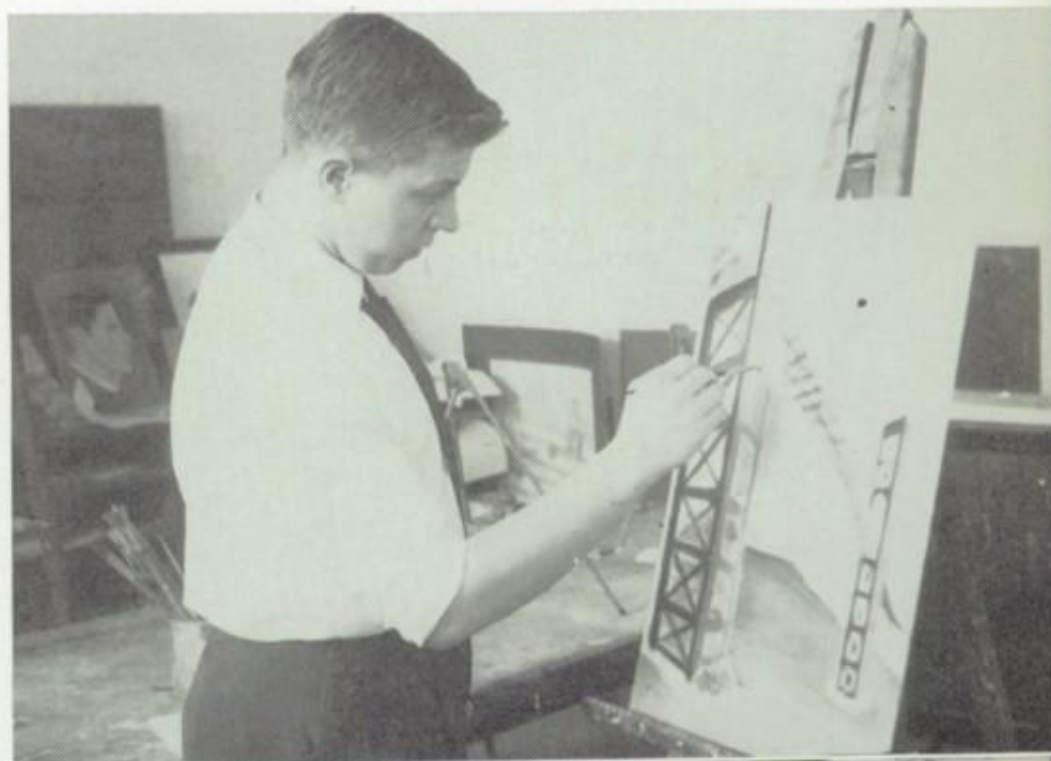

The shop's main project of the year was a tea table for the Commons Hall. Made of birch and walnut wood, it required about three months to build.

A second project was the construction of bookcases for the library. The new oak shelves are to hold the books of the Lowell F. Bartholomew Memorial Collection.

The manual arts department, in its second year of existence, has proved to be very popular with Poly craftsmen. It has become still another activity to be added to the many that now cater to the diverse interests of Poly students.

DEBATING AND PUBLIC SPEAKING CLUB

THE main purpose of the Debating and Public Speaking Club was to give its members poise and confidence in the art of impromptu speaking. During its weekly meetings discussions and debates on present day topics were held. This practice prepared the boys for the Speaking Contest. Sponsor: Dr. Nicholson. Members: Corwin, Gromet, Hafely, Kerber, Nelson, Raymond, Sayles, Silvy, Voegele, and Zarett.

Upper School Activities

'GON HEELERS

THE 'Gon Heelers, a group of journalistic tyros under the aegis of Mr. John E. Hughes, were mainly concerned with learning the methods of producing an effective school newspaper. A highlight of their year was a visit to the New York Times. Members: Bloom, Camiel, DiGregorio, Ellis, Fearon, Glickman, Mike Groothius, Kamen, Khiuri, Mackta, Mitchell, Mizrack, Rahr, Robinson, Rothstein, Rudolph, Scheinman, Sessa, Smolowe, Stone, Strafacci, Strongin, Thomas, Trippitelli, and Wollman.

CHESS CLUB

THE advanced strategists of the school met each week to match each other in the ancient and fascinating game of chess. Sponsor: Mr. Case. Members: Bloom, Brancato, Da Silva, Gerardi, Morrell, Munger, W. Rebell, Smolowe, Sorbello, and Wollman.

RADIO CLUB

RADIO enthusiasts made great progress during the Ham Radio Club's second year of existence. Under faculty supervision of Mr. Rogers, the group boasted several newly-licensed operators.

The program of Morse Code and electronics theory instruction, executed by President Bob Robinson, was designed to give prospective "hams" the necessary knowledge and experience.

Many hours of fascinating two-way communication were spent on the air with the school's own station, K2OXQ.

Members: President Robinson, Vice-President Weiss, Martinson, F. J. Tuttle, Diez-Canseco, Fischer, Gaudio, M. Hersh, Eros, Linn, Mackey, Sahn, and Morrell.

TRIGON

THE Trigon was a periodical published by the Third Formers interested in journalism. It offered valuable experience in the art of producing a school newspaper to those middlers who will be vying for positions on the staff of the Polygon in two years. Sponsor: Mr. May. Members: Boes, Feinstein, Gold, Hamway, Herman, Lachenmeyer, Malkin, Musikant, Panetta, Rebell, I. Rubin, Sahn, Schiller, Schneider, Scotto, Teitelbaum, Tocci, and Wasserman.

MIDDLER STAMP AND COIN CLUB

EACH Thursday Poly's amateur numismatists and philatelists met in Mr. Hoffecker's room. These meetings not only afforded them a chance to discuss the origins and values of the stamps and coins of the world, but also to trade extensively. The members: Andreozzi, Block, Gaston, Hunt, Kozinn, and Spiegel.

SECOND FORM CHESS CLUB

THE Second Form Chess Club met each Monday to match wits in the fascinating game of chess. They were instructed and coached by the sponsor, Mr. Hayden. Members: Blumstein, Cohn, Eber, Gardstein, Gertz, Hoffman, Livingston, McKenna, Marlin, Mitchell, O'Connor, Pinto, Raphael, Rich, Rizzuti, Spiegel, Springer, Stella, and Stich.

Varsity Club

President ROBERT BROWER
 Vice-President BRUCE HENNINGSEN
 Secretary-Treasurer MARK GROOTHUIS
 Faculty Adviser MR. LUCAS

UNDER Mr. Lucas, the Varsity Club this year made changes in its rules of eligibility. Previously the attainment of varsity letters in three different sports was requisite for admission. Since the club was designed to recognize athletic achievement, the members felt that each captain of a team, upon receiving a varsity letter in one additional sport, should be entitled to membership in the organization.

Throughout the year, the club was confronted with the various athletic problems facing the school. A standard procedure was established for choosing an "acting" captain in case an elected captain should be incapacitated. The club discussed training rules, the awarding of varsity letters, and the possibility of receptions for visiting teams.

Mr. Lucas and the entire organization felt that the Varsity Club should mean more to Poly than just a society to recognize athletic merit. Bob Brower, the president of the club, tried to instill in the members a desire to improve the organization. That this society could be instrumental in making the athletic program, an important facet of school life, more desirable and productive was the belief of both Brower and Mr. Lucas. To this, the club in the past year included most of the captains, thereby representing the opinions of participants in almost all Poly sports instead of those of a select few.

Football

THE 1957 football team compiled a lack-luster record of three wins, three losses, and one tie. Led by its all-Ivy League guard, Ken Andreozzi, the eleven had to overcome insurmountable obstacles: Captain Tony Valerio injured his knee, and Bruce Henningsen, its swiftest and most talented offensive back, was incapacitated with bad ankles for almost the whole campaign. Illnesses and injuries caused many other first-stringers to miss games.

The opener at Stony Brook commenced a long, hard season for the Blue and Gray. The fifteen-game winning streak compiled by the undefeated Poly teams of the past two years was ended as the gridders succumbed to a high spirited Stony Brook eleven. This game also resulted in the injuring of Captain Tony Valerio whose valuable services were lost for the remainder of the campaign. Acting as captains, Ken Andreozzi and Bill Drucker led the team in Tony's place. When the team played at Far Rockaway High School in a last minute pairing due to a city-wide flu epidemic, the Blue and Gray outplayed its new rival by a wide margin only to succumb, 13-6, on a last minute play. Breaking their losing streak, the gridgers trounced Hackley, 25-6, as Chuck Franco, Ed Jeffer, Gerry Rizzuti, and Mickey Solomon scored the touchdowns. In the next encounter Riverdale held the eleven to a scoreless tie, the first time in five years that the team did not score. To make sure this game was no fluke the team was shut out by Horace Mann, 26-0, the following week. The powerful Hilltoppers thus wrested away the Ivy League crown, worn by the Blue and Gray for two successive years. This game was conclusive evidence of the team's lack of scoring punch. Throughout the year the gridgers moved the ball well and held the opposition's running game, but could not produce a good scoring play.

In its final game, destined to be its last under the guidance of Coach Tuttle, the team managed to acquire an even break for the season by decisively defeating St. Paul's, 22-7, in the fifty-fifth game of the second oldest high school rivalry in the country. Ken Andreozzi, Bernie Sarrel, Pete Basta, Bill Drucker, and Micky Solomon were the team's stars.

those boys who tried their best to make the 1957 football season successful despite such heavy losses.

At the conclusion of the season Ken Andreozzi was placed on the All-Ivy League eleven. Bernie Sarrel, Pete Basta, and Bill Drucker received honorable mention on the coaches' selected team. Andreozzi received the Jack James Memorial Trophy as the team's most valuable player.

The following were awarded "P. P.": Captain Valerio, Andreozzi, Drucker, Basta, Costas, Feinstein, Franco, Gallo, Gertz, Henningsen, B. Jeffer, E. Soccer

Baffled booters.

BY winning ten of its eleven games, the 1957 soccer team compiled the finest record in Poly history. The booters finished second to Riverdale in Ivy League competition with a 5-1 log.

Throughout the campaign the squad relied on teamwork, aggressiveness, and a winning spirit to overcome any lack of natural talent. At the end of the season, inside Mark Groothuis and halfback Paul Kaufman were chosen by the coaches for the all-league team. Kaufman was also named the recipient of the Holmes Cup for the "greatest improvement during the season."

The booters opened their league schedule by downing Hackley on a Joe Generalis goal, 1-0. Pingry bowed to Poly's determined squad for the first time in five years by the identical score as Groothuis converted. After defeating Fort Hamilton by a 3-1 count, the Blue and Gray shut out Horace Mann, 1-0. In that game the half-back line of Angeletti, Giardina, and Kaufman excelled in their brilliant defensive work while Generalis bounced off the bench to send the ball zipping into the nets for the best offensive effort. On goals by wings Raymond and Feldman and inside Guarino, the booters next blanked Trinity, 3-0, and went on to edge out Adelphi, 2-1. Jim Bakis scored the lone goal in a 1-0 defeat of arch-rival St. Paul's. Goalie Bob Brower was impressive in holding the Saints scoreless. Later, playing on a field that was a sea of mud, the Poly booters, displaying excellent teamwork, overwhelmed the Horace Mann team, 3-1. Groothuis and Bakis tallied while the defensive work of fullbacks John Sands and Steve Hersh was characteristically outstanding. Riverdale retained its league crown by shutting out the Blue and Gray, 2-0. Billy LoCurto was the only shining light in the losing cause as he proved his defensive ability. After beating Trinity again on goals by Giustra and Generalis, the booters, with the same combination, defeated St. Paul's once more in overtime to close out a most successful campaign.

Poly's two-time all-league goalie, Captain Bob Brower, allowed but four goals while racking up a record total of seven shut-outs, demonstrating a great leadership quality which paved the way for the team's brilliant success.

The following were awarded "P. P.": Captain Brower, Angeletti, Bakis, Bender, Feldman, Generalis, Giardina, Giustra, Guarino, Hafely, Hersh, Kaufman, LoCurto, Manne, Pensley, Pokorny, Raymond, Sands, Siegel, Strohsahl, Thayer, Wagner, Zeeman, Groothuis, and Manager Cooper-smith.

Cross Country

BUILT around a nucleus of five returning lettermen, the 1957 Cross Country team experienced its best season in four years in rolling up a record of five wins and two defeats. The team was handicapped by the lack of the full services of Captain Steve Weber who was an early-season flu victim. Roger Seidel was clocked in 13:18 against St. Paul's at home, the best for a Poly runner during the 1957 season.

Mr. Thompson can be assured of a successful future for his harriers with four letter winners returning next fall: Tom Goddard, Richard Caserta, Joel Schram, and Ron Wilson.

Basketball

COMPILING the finest record in Poly basketball history, the 1957-58 basketball team won 19 of 21 games. The team's 13-1 record in Ivy League competition enabled the Blue and Gray cagers to wrest the league crown from Stony Brook, marking the third time in four years that Poly has won the league title, and giving to the school permanent possession of the plaque emblematic of league supremacy.

In the season's opener at Rutgers Prep, Bob Brower established a new single game scoring record of 41 points, breaking Chuck Kaufman's old standard of 38.

After romping at Rutgers, the team had its narrowest margin of victory against Lawrenceville, New Jersey prep title holders. Erasing a fourteen point deficit, the quintet eked out an exciting 50-48 decision on Joe Generalis' bucket in the last minute of play. Staten Island P. S. A. L. champions, Curtis, bowed, 69-50, before the team thoroughly demolished Power Memorial, 77-44, behind a 30 point performance of Captain Mark Groothuis.

The team entered league play unbeaten and breezed through its first seven Ivy games. In a battle of unbeatens, the Blue and Gray quintet routed defending Ivy Champions, Stony Brook, 83-57, as Bob Brower and Capt. Groothuis accounted for 53 points. In the annual Oasis sponsored night game for the benefit of the March of Dimes, the team tumbled Hackley, 83-65, before an overflow crowd.

Before resuming the second half of their league schedule, the team faced Curtis on the Staten Island court and were the victims of a fighting Warrior team and of complacency, winding up on the short end of the score for the first time after eleven successes, 52-54.

A week later the cagers absorbed their lone loop loss by bowing to St. Paul's, 66-68, in an overtime thriller despite a fine all-around performance by Roger Seidel who collected 25 points and 22 rebounds. Despite their two defeats, the cagers refused to be denied and bounced back to win their last six games, successively defeating Stony Brook, Horace Mann, and Hackley to dispel any doubts of their claim to the league title and their label as Poly's greatest team.

At the season's end Captain Mark Groothuis and Bob Brower were named to the All-Ivy League team by the coaches. Roger Seidel was placed on the second all-league five. Bob Brower was also selected to play for the Brooklyn-Queens All-Stars in the tenth annual high-school all-star game at Madison Square Garden.

Wrestling

THE 1957-58 Ivy League Championship wrestling team enjoyed a successful dual meet season by amassing an overall record of eight wins and two losses.

In its first meet of the year, Poly lost to a strong Peddie squad, 27-13, as Captain Rich Giustra, Chuck Franco, and Dave Lichtman picked up Poly's only wins. Avenging that loss, the matmen downed Pingry, 24-16, with Bob Feinstein's heavyweight victory the deciding factor. Behind eight individual wins, Poly rolled over Hackley, 32-13, in preparation for the all important Stony Brook match. Dave Swift, Rich Giustra, Tim Sharp, Dave Lichtman, Chuck Franco, and Bob Feinstein brought home the bacon with wins, as Poly edged out the Islanders, 25-22. The defending league champs from St. Paul's were next to fall prey to Poly's rampaging squad, 28-18, Fred Tuttle picked up his first pin of the year as Poly barely beat the Columbia Freshman, 16-14. Completely outclassing their next two opponents, the grapplers vanquished Horace Mann and Trinity squads, 37-8 and 33-12, respectively. Falling prey to illness, Poly dropped its only league game to a mediocre Riverdale contingent, 22-20.

In the fifth Ivy League Tournament held at Hackley, Poly placed seven men in the finals. Of these seven, five won individual titles: Captain Giustra (123), Fred Tuttle (130), Dave Lichtman (147), Chuck Franco (157), and Bob Feinstein (H.Wt.). Dave Swift (106) and Frank Strafacci (115) accounted for valuable second places while Bob Bero (167) and Seth Kaufman (137) took fourths. Totalling fifty six points, Poly regained the League Trophy won by Poly teams previously in 1956 and 1957 and placed the plaque in Poly's archives as a permanent school possession.

Board Track

AFTER an inauspicious start, the 1957-58 board track team came into its own to win its final four dual meets and conclude its season with a creditable 4-2 dual meet record. The runners placed third in the Poly Invitational Meet with 14 points, behind St. Francis Prep and Brooklyn Prep.

Despite a pre-season injury to its great runner, Captain Bruce Henningsen, which restricted him to high-jumping, and despite the fact that there were only three seniors on the entire squad, the runners compiled a record identical to that of the previous year's team.

Juniors Mike Halperin and Ed Napodano led the team in scoring with 47½ and 45 points respectively. Both boys showed great versatility by competing in as many as three different events. John Purpura accounted for the only record-breaking performance of the season by shattering Nick Sirianni's shotput mark of 49 feet 7½ inches with a heave of 49 feet 8 inches in the Horace Mann meet. Richard Perry and Captain Henningsen were consistent scorers and clutch performers in the high jump.

Numbered among the Blue and Gray's victims were the P. S. A. L. champions, Fort Hamilton, who succumbed to the young Poly runners, 23-20.

After absorbing a 45-23 beating by Brooklyn Prep in its opener, the runners were nipped by Riverdale, 36-32. Following competition in the Poly Invitation Meet, the runners hit their stride. Having reversed their loss to Riverdale by drubbing the visiting Bronxites, 53-24, the team closed its season by outracing Horace Mann, Fort Hamilton, and New Utrecht on successive days.

The following were awarded "P. P.": Captain Henningsen, Goddard, Goetz, J. Guarino, Halperin, B. Jeffer, Napodano, Perry, Purpura, Rosenberg, Schenck, Schram, Wilson, and Manager Spiritus.

Swimming

THE 1957-58 swimming team posted a 4-5 dual meet record. As the team was composed mainly of freshmen and sophomores, next year's swimming squad looks promising. Fred Bronaugh won five of nine races in the 200-yard freestyle and also took five victories in the 150-yard individual medley. Backstroking his way to glory, George Sherman compiled a streak of five straight wins while Peter Cresci captured four decisive victories in the 100-yard freestyle event. Sebby Scialabba notched eight wins in the dive as John Sands and Richard Nesi both contributed greatly in the butterfly and 50-yard freestyle respectively.

Having bowed to Peddie, 54-27, and Pingry, 52-34, the mermen bounced back to overwhelm Fieldston, 51-25. Then, in reciprocal home meet outings, Poly beat Manhattan Prep both times, 45-32 and 56-21, respectively. Competing in a triangular meet with Hackley and Horace Mann, the swimmers were completely outdone by their opponents. The Columbia Freshmen and McBurney both proved too strong for the Poly mermen, as the opposition scored 52-33 and 62-32 wins, respectively. Poly regained its winning status by edging out Brooklyn Prep, 44-42, only to fall again by losing to Holy Trinity, 43-41, for the climax.

Defending their title in the Fieldston Invitational Meet, Poly dropped to a third place standing with twenty-four points. Peter Cresci ended his season appropriately by gaining victories in the 50-yard and 100-yard freestyle events. Fred Bronaugh and John Sands took seconds in their individual specialties.

The following were awarded "P. P.": Bronaugh, P. Cresci, Fisher, Gladstone, Gould, Nesi, Romans, Sands, Scheinman, Scialabba, Sherman, and Manager Lehman.

Rifle

LOSING but one match, the 1957-58 rifle team compiled the third best record in the sport's school history. Behind Capt. Roger Wagner, high gun Frank Tuttle, and Roger Gromet, the team copped eight victories and missed an undefeated season by a slim five point deficit—the difference in Poly's only loss, which was in a return match with Lincoln. Previous to this loss the team had rolled over five opponents. Afterwards, it regained its top notch status by commencing a three match win skein to be taken up by next year's squad. The team was rounded out by seniors Peter Bluestone, Barry Feldman, Tony Manne, Joel Pensley, and Al Voegele.

In April, the nimrods competed in the National Shoulder-to-Shoulder Team Championships at New Haven, Connecticut, where Poly's first team, consisting of Capt. Wagner, Manne, Feldman, and F. J. Tuttle, placed thirteenth in the regional team standings.

In the past few years the nimrods have shot mostly in two positions: prone and offhand. This year the team added the sitting and kneeling stances in three of its nine matches.

The junior members of the team improved greatly as the season progressed. Although Frank Tuttle and Roger Gromet will be the only returning lettermen, another successful season is forecast for next year.

The following were awarded "P. P.": Captain Wagner, Bluestone, N. Evans, Feldman, Gromet, Manne, F. J. Tuttle, Voegele, and Manager Weinstein.

Baseball

Swish!

THE 1957 baseball team compiled the identical 9-2 league record that carried the 1956 nine to the Ivy League championship; but the Blue and Gray suffered their two setbacks at the hands of the league champions, St. Paul's, and thus finished third in the integrated standings of the two-division system. The team's overall record was nine victories and six defeats.

The Blue and Gray batsmen opened their campaign inauspiciously by absorbing shutout defeats from Madison and St. Paul's. The loss to St. Paul's proved costly as the team lost the services of its captain and star, Phil Hertz, who suffered a broken hand and was forced to miss eleven games. In his absence, Jerry Pearlman and Bernie Sarrel ably handled the catching chores.

In these opening two games the ballplayers found themselves unable to hit the ball well, collecting only two safeties. They began to come to life, however, by defeating Hackley and Adelphi in league encounters.

Throughout the campaign the team was plagued with the loss of its captain's services. Hertz, a powerful slugger, had led the team in home runs the year before, including a drive into the Harlem River at Baker Field. Phil was determined, nevertheless, to have a championship team, and inspired by his fighting spirit the baseball nine compiled its enviable record, losing only to St. Paul's and defeating Trinity of the Northern division to maintain third place.

Without doubt the most versatile ball player in many years was Tony Montalbano. "Monty" was the team's leading pitcher, leading hitter (.398), and a top-notch left fielder. The recipient of the Herbert Bohnet Trophy as the team's most valuable player, Monty "did everything I ever asked of him," said coach Harlow Parker. Coach Parker also had praise for his sophomore short-stop, third-baseman, and right fielder: Pete Basta, Mickey Solomon, and Paul Kraus respectively.

A satisfactory season was anticipated for the Blue and Gray with the return of first-baseman Brower, hard-hitting outfielders Groothuis, Andreozzi, and Kraus, infielders Basta, Giustra, and Solomon, and hurler Roger Seidel.

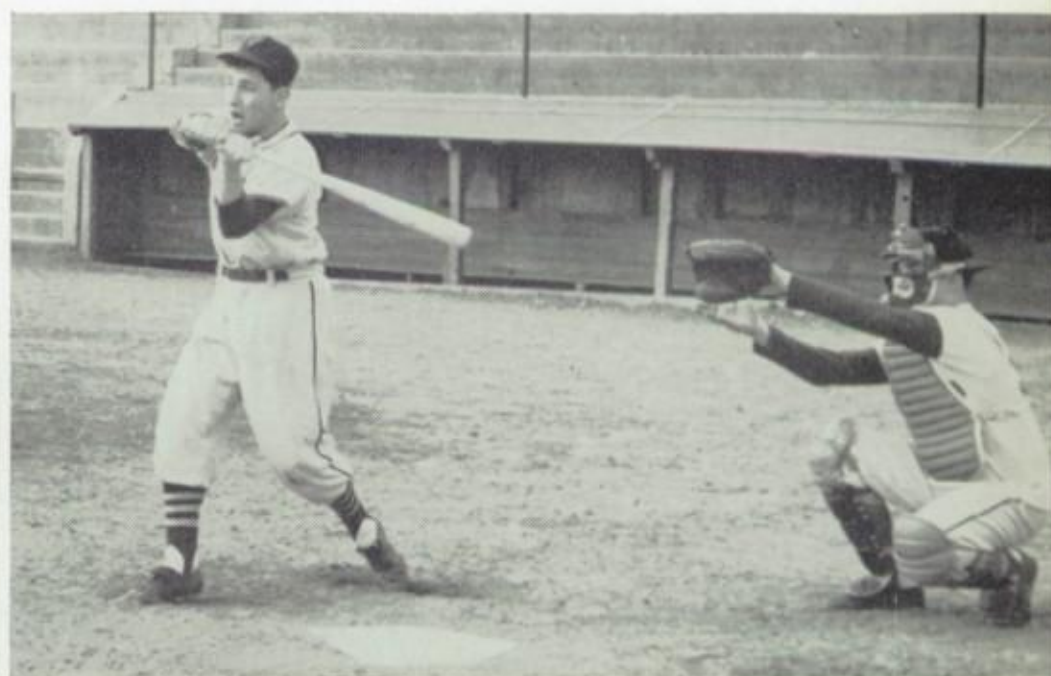

The following were awarded "P. P.": Captain Hertz, Basta, Brower, Calderone, R. Giustra, M. Groothuis, Kraus, Sarrel, Pearlman, Shwom, M. Solomon, Mairo, Mantalbano, and Manager Tolk.

Track

THE 1957 track team enjoyed a winning season, compiling a dual meet record of three wins against one loss while placing second to Stony Brook in the Ivy League Meet.

In their first encounter of the season, the Tuttlemen easily downed a St. Paul's contingent, 90-23, as Captain Cliff Bernstein, Bruce Henningsen, and Nick Sirianni amassed a total of $42\frac{1}{2}$ points. The team next competed in the Penn Relays at Franklin Field, Philadelphia. Although no points were earned, the tracksters gained invaluable experience which was evident in their next meet. Collecting 12 firsts in 14 events, Poly overwhelmed Riverdale in preparation for the oncoming Ivy League Meet, which was held at Hofstra College. Poly returned from Hofstra with four first place individual titlists and a second place team standing. Sirianni took two firsts, leading the field in the javelin and shot put competition. Bernstein flashed by competitors to win the 220-yard dash event. Sebastian Scialabba tied for polevaulting honors. Minus the services of Bruce Henningsen, who sustained an ankle injury in the league meet, Poly beat Horace Grape crushers warm up.

Mann but later suffered its only dual meet loss, succumbing to Stony Brook, 83-39.

Highlighting the season was Nick Sirianni's record javelin toss of 169 feet. Competing in the Brooklyn Automotive Meet, Bernstein placed second in the open 220-yard dash to gain four points for Poly.

The following were awarded "P. P.": Captain Bernstein, Drucker, Henningsen, Hersh, Lipson, Malin, Napodano, Oremland, Purpura, Scialabba, N. Sirianni, Traendly, Wilson, and Manager Leiper.

Lacrosse

BEHIND a nucleus of six returning lettermen, the 1957 lacrosse team completed its season with a record of four wins and eight defeats. Captain Bob Elkins was presented with the Alumni Lacrosse Cup for his fine field play, both offensive and defensive.

Rarely has a Poly lacrosse team compiled a winning record for an entire season, for the Indians are always up against stiff competition. Playing against teams of college freshmen and battling prep schools with long established lacrosse background and experience, the stickmen always face a hard season. Thus, the record of four wins and eight losses of last year's lacrosse team does not represent an unsuccessful campaign.

Losing its first two encounters to strong squads, the Indians came back to edge out Peddie. Later in the season the stickmen achieved a three game winning streak, an enviable feat.

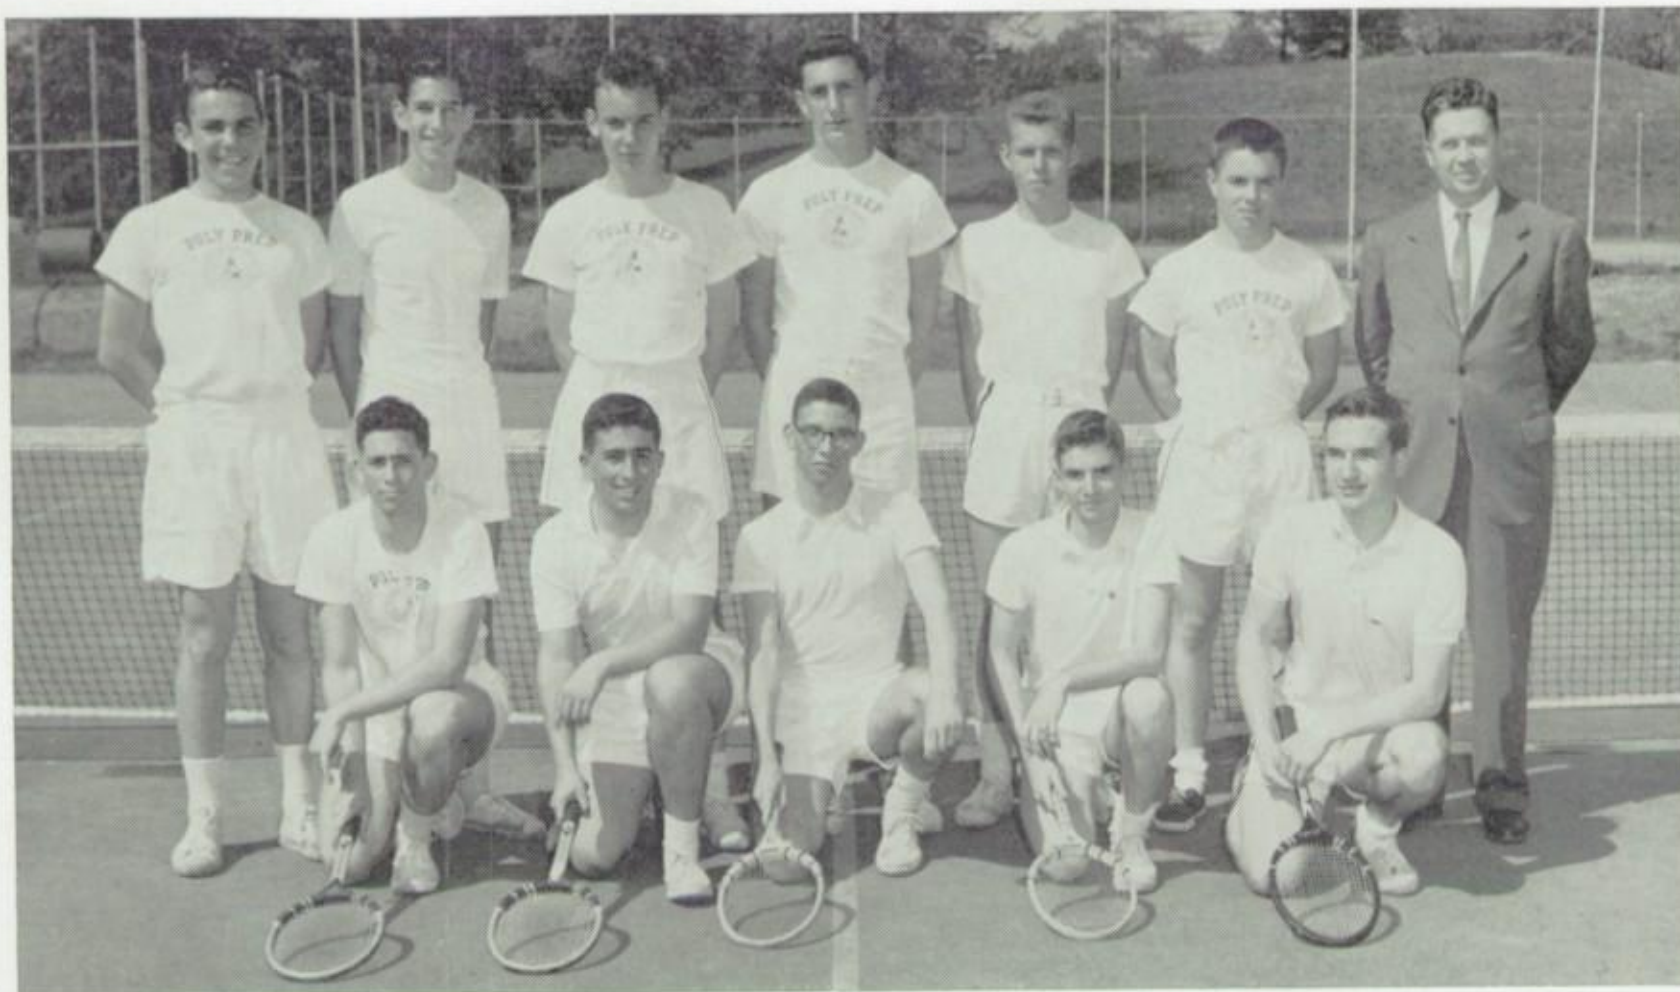

Bob Elkins, a two year letter-man was the captain of the squad. His capable leadership and inspiring play led the team throughout the season. Along with Elkins in midfield were Ken Bradford, Steve Lebowitz, and sophomore Tony Sirianni. Sparking the Indian defense were George McKenzie, Dave Gurland, and junior Chuck Franco. Backed up by their efforts, Jim Nova and Jeff Marlin were able to lead the attack. Jeff led the team in scoring with twenty-one goals. In two separate contests he pushed past four goals, a remarkable performance. Also outstanding was the hustling Poly goalie Ed Reiss. Ed let by comparatively few goals and thereby contributed greatly to the team's successes during the season. Reiss was elected captain of this year's squad.

The following were awarded "P. P.": Captain Elkins, Beckler, Bradford, Franco, Glick, Gurland, Johnson, Lazzaro, Lebowitz, McKenzie, Nova, Marlin, Reiss, A. Sirianni, and Manager Fishman.

Coach: Mr. Croghan. Faculty Adviser: Mr. Eagleson. Captain: Robert Elkins. Manager: Allan Fishman.

Back—Sands, N. Lebowitz, Ellsworth, Weinstock, Evans, Hunter, Mr. Case. Front—Bender, Pensley, Bermas (Captain), B. Feldman, Thayer.

Tennis

THE 1957 tennis team experienced a mediocre season, compiling a record of five victories and six losses. The team was greatly handicapped by a lack of seasoned veterans. Captain Roger Bermas, recipient of the Waterman Cup, Steve Weinstock, and Neal Evans proved to be the most dependable performers.

In their curtain-raiser, the Casemen bowed to Pingry, 5-4, in a thrilling match. The team bounced back to defeat Brooklyn Prep and James Madison. Hackley and Barnard nipped the netmen by identical 3-2 scores. Behind the singles victories of Captain Bermas, Weinstock, and Evans the team upset perennial league champions Horace Mann, 3-2. The Casemen then took two of their next three matches before bowing to Trinity, 3-2, and thus losing their title aspirations to the newly-crowned loop kings. Trinity's Junior Davis Cupper Larry Nagler provided the needed spark to overcome the Blue and Gray's spunky competitors. In its last match of the season, the racqueteers bowed to Riverdale, 3-2.

Captain Bermas and Evans were the only returning lettermen. Thus, with Mr. Case rebuilding his squad while seeking latent potential, the team compiled an unimpressive record. After establishing a combination of Captain Bermas, sophomore Steve Weinstock, and junior Neal Evans, the team discovered winning ways.

Mr. Case has great hopes for Poly's success in 1958 with the return of Captain-elect Neal Evans and promising Steve Weinstock. Steve obtained great experience this past summer playing with stars of other high schools and colleges. He has been taught by great professionals as well. He, along with Evans, and a few other senior netmen—Feldman, Pensley, Ellsworth, and Sands—may bring Poly its first championship.

The following were awarded "P. P.": Captain Bermas, Evans, Hunter, Weinstock, and Manager Kartell.

Captain: Roger Bermas. Coach and Faculty Adviser: Mr. Case. Manager: James Kartell.

Dr. Lambert, Raymond, Sandler, Graham (Captain), Valerio, Strafacci, D. Heymann.

Golf

LED by Captain Jeff Graham, the linksmen enjoyed another successful season by amassing an 8-3 record. Protecting a fifteen match win skein accumulated over a two year period, the golfers brought the string to eighteen before being halted by a strong Curtis squad. After impressive wins over St. Peter's and Fieldston, the team was narrowly edged out in matches with McBurney and Curtis by identical 3-2 scores. Playing inspired golf, the team overwhelmed its last three opponents by lopsided scores, thereby ending the season on a satisfactory note.

Captain Jeff Graham was consistently outstanding as he had been the previous two years. Losing but two matches to the same Curtis opponent, Jeff was continually in good form, playing excellent golf and often scoring under 75. He was a semi-finalist in the annual Eastern In-terscholastic Golf Tournament but was defeated on the 23rd hole after a four-hole sudden death playoff.

Frank Strafacci, the son of Dominic, one of the famous professional Strafacci brothers, while only a freshman, promises a strong future for both Poly and himself. Tony Valerio, playing his first season of varsity golf, along with Pete Siviglia and Willie Raymond rounded out a group of top New York City schoolboy golfers.

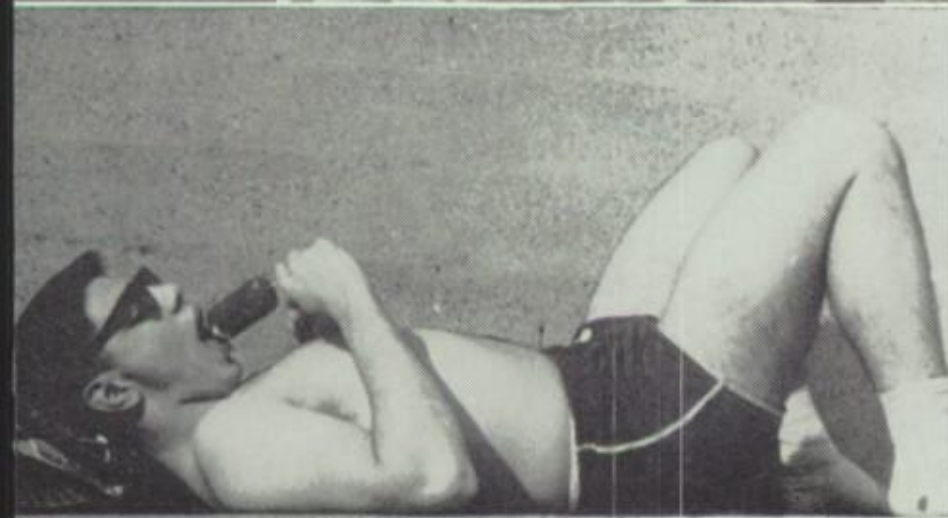

Dr. Lambert was pleased to find all members returning for this season with the exception of Siviglia. Great success is truly in store for the linksmen.

The following were awarded "P. P.": Captain Graham, Raymond, Siviglia, Strafacci, and Valerio.

A WAY OF LIFE

Poly was founded a century ago with the ideal of offering the advantage of the finest kind of academic training "surrounded by the saving influences of home and the family circle." The Country Day School has enhanced that ideal by providing an environment of work and of play in an eight-hour school-day designed to foster the development of scholarship, character, and vision in a well-rounded young man. But each night and every weekend the school gives the boy back to his home and family for those things which only home can provide. This is a way of life Poly offers.

To Members of the Class Being Graduated From Polytechnic Preparatory Country Day School:

Speaking for the trustees, the officers and the staff of the Brevoort Savings Bank, may I offer our heartiest felicitations to each and every one of you upon completion of your academic course. We have, it is true, offered similar congratulations to members of classes in other years.

But now, how much more important! The recently achieved widening of our world's scope calls for increased capacity to understand. Your studies have all been designed to heighten that capacity.

Our best wishes for good health and prosperity. You have enjoyed the privilege of going through your academic courses in one of the foremost preparatory schools of a wide area. May God grant you a future commensurate with that privilege.

Sincerely,

The Italian Club

THE members in order of their standing are:

PresidentK. JAMES ANDREOZZI

Vice-PresidentC. RAY CRESCI

TreasurerC. BASIL COSTAS

Social DirectorE. ARTHUR REISS

SecretaryA. ALGERNONE VALERIO

Senior Members: R. Samuel Brower, M. Leonard Groothuis, J. Joe Marlin, B. Michael Sarrel, N. Lawrence Drucker, S. Joseph Scialabba, R. Julius Gallo.

This year the "Italian Club," or "Mediterranean Men's Club," has continued to distinguish itself in all phases of school life, though possibly in some phases more than others. Living up to its basic principles of "liberal aristocracy" and "constructive dissipation," the I. C. has planned and partaken of many gala social events or "frivolities," coeducational and otherwise.

We point proudly to our membership made up entirely of noble and unquestionable personages. One glance at our dignified group portrait will reveal an abundance of class officers, athletic leaders, and academic luminaries, not to mention those boys with more latent or subtle talents.

Of course as is always the case, one is bound to run into a "lunatic fringe" of "faulty reasoners" who would have you believe untruths about our organization. To them we confidently say "Oh poop!" and "Get thee to a nunnery."

In conclusion, we of the I. C. of '58 extend to our friends our good wishes and to our members, a sincere plea for back dues to pay for this ad, so that President Andreozzi can get his brother's car out of hock.

KEEP IT ON THE Q. T.

All right, let's keep it quiet. I want to do some underlining today. Starting on page 655. . . . Put away the cards, Generalis. Boy, Siegel, you'd better watch your step. I've been hearing a lot about you. On page 655 there, will you read, Kaufman? What Reiss? Sure you can take your ten minute talk from Confidential. Weiswasser, shut the window. You know this is the coldest room in the school. By the way, Elligers, I understand the next editorial's going to be a real scorcher. No, Sully didn't tell me. Boy, I tell you this seventh period takes the cake. You guys think you can come in here and fool around, but you'll be surprised when the marks come out. Tarulli, will you read, please, the first column, page 655. Say, I see in the News here where "Lighthorse" Harry Truman is sounding off again. You know, Dr. Allen never allowed tabloids in the school. . . . I wouldn't be surprised if this depression were the work of Red agents . . . That reminds me—where's my Readers' Digest . . . some good jokes this month. . . .

MAN ON THE STREET

Here is a small quiz to test your powers of observation. If you correctly answer:

- 16—You are a liar; there are only 15 questions.
12-15—You are a wise guy.
9-11—D. P. P.
5-8—Go back to sleep.
4—See Kaye Tutors ad.
1-3—You are a throwback; forget 'GLOT career; try 'Gon.
- A. "Well, er, it gives me a great maysure of playsure to, er, inform you of your acceptance at, er, Bob Jones, er, U."
B. "Well, I wouldn't get terribly excited about any of this; but (scratch, scratch), frankly, the whole school is disappointed with the tone you fellows are setting."
C. "Genlmm, Englishhh is trafickkk in thotsss. 'Tis pity 'tis true, 'tis true 'tis pity, 'twere true 'twere too twoo . . ."
D. "Now b'gads, when Queen Anne was king of England. . . . What's that? Of course I see Crete on that map."
E. "Now, ah am sure there is no cheatin' goin' on in this section. If y'all don't start workin', ah'm gonna havta give y'all a zeero!!"
F. "Atta boy. I thought I was gonna hafta put ya name in th'book! What's that? Cresci's down at Novack's again?"

- G. "Ya do that in your own home, son? I don't care; don't do it here!!! It's a privilege, not a right. . . ."
H. "Gentlemen, and Mr. Kaufman, you are all inseeignificant blobs of protoplasm—worms!"
I. "Pawsibly there may be no taynis practice today. Stawp the chattah!"
J. "F.P.T. tomorrow, P.D.Q.; D.P.L.; F.Y.M.; salty P.F. mink chops. . . . I don't know, S.M.L."
K. "You guys are a bunch of filthy, incorribible capitalists. Red Barber used to say that I was a great announcer."
L. "My God, man, what seems to be the matter? Don't worry; I shall bore you for only ten more minutes."
M. "Y'all must see that we like to think of it as our own little contribution to democracy. Every one must be an officer. They're all potential leaders."
N. "What a season! First Scialabba racks up his knee, and then Chris gets the boot, and then Sands gets sick, and then those sophomores start to punk out, and then . . ."
O. "Boy, I'll say I remember 'em! Those Shermans must have weighed more than fifteen, twenty ton—that's about thirty, forty thousand pound. Long? Hmmm, I'd guess about thirty-five foot."

JUST TOO TOO

Well, gentlemen, let us see how well we have discriminated in our reading of today's essay. Who can tell me what the key word was? One word, gentlemen. No. Cresci, not "currency." No. Henningsen, not "cash." No, Newman, not "moolah." It is obvious that you have missed the whole point of the selection. The word is "money," gentlemen. Incidentally, that is one of the little ironies of life. The trouble with you boys is that you don't know how to live by yourselves. Why, I once stayed alone in a cabin for two weeks, isolated from civilization. What? Why I came back because . . . that's another paradox of life. No, Andreozzi, that is not paradox No. 265. Gentlemen, I am trying to provide you with a little intellectual stimulation and . . .
